Police arrest 4 men in Antioch's crime 'wave-let'

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Antioch Police Dept. has been busy with a mini-crime wave since the end of last week.

Following the armed robbery of Persin and Persin Jewelers, which is still under investigation, the police have arrested one Antioch man for residential burglary and another for the attempted armed robbery of Little Caesar's Pizza, early Sunday morning.

David Oster, 20, is in Lake County jail on $50,000 bond after being arrested and charged with the residential burglary of a home on Depot St. on Thursday, Jan. 7.

After Fox Lake Police Chief Joe Semasko, a fingerprint expert, matched a print taken at the crime scene with that of a suspect, Oster, States' Atty. Fred Foreman's office swore out a warrant for his arrest which was requested by the policemen working on the case, Lt. Tom Fisher and Officer Michael Culat.

On Tuesday, the Antioch Police, utilizing information they had received, also arrested James M. Wallace, 17, Antioch, and Michael J. Peltier, 17, Round Lake Beach, at the Round Lake Roller Rink. At press time the two were in jail awaiting bond hearings on charges of residential burglary.

At 11:15 a.m. on Sunday, Officer David Walsh came around the corner near Little Caesar's Pizza Place in the Antioch Shopping Mall, and notice a woman and man in the parking lot. The man was wearing a ski mask and started to run when the officer approached.

Walsh chased him on foot and caught Ronald A. Douglas, 18, Antioch, who was also wearing a nylon stocking over his face.

According to the woman, Julie Lamminen, manager of the pizza place, she was closing up when she noticed a man near her car. He told her to behave and he wouldn't harm her as he pointed what looked like a revolver at her.

He grabbed her purse, and as Lamminen waved to the police, he ran, dropping the purse and the gun which was a realistic looking BB gun. A tan station wagon was sighted in the immediate area and drove away when the officer arrived.

Weather's just 'ducky'

Think it's tough dealing with sub-zero January temperatures? Pity poor ducks which were in midst of migration south when the ice curtain of winter suddenly descended. At least in northeastern Illinois and southeastern Wisconsin, there are plenty of running streams to keep procrastinating ducks plentifully supplied with water.—Photo by John Doetsch

Eye connection in 2 jewelry robberies

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Antioch Police Dept. is working on the theory that an attempted robbery of a jewelry store in Burlington, just a few hours before Persin and Persin Jewelers, Antioch, was held up at gunpoint in broad daylight, might be connected.

According to Antioch Police Lt. Tom Fisher, at 3 p.m., on Wednesday, Jan. 6, a male subject, 50 to 55 years in age, entered the Antioch jewelry store, pulled a gun and pointed it at owner Susan Persins, demanding money.

Persins complied with the robber's request with the robber in the lead heading towards the back of the store with Persins to procure jewelry. He suddenly turned, said he would be back and was going for friends. It was then that Persins hit the alarm button.

Arriving together were Fisher and officers Ron Roth and James Hession.

The jeweler gave the officers a description of the man who had black and grey hair, was dirty in general appearance, had on a brownish grey long overcoat and brown pants and was brandishing an eight-inch chrome revolver with white hand grips. The officers searched the area immediately but came up empty.

A check with area law enforcement agencies revealed that a man of the same description went into a jewelry store in Burlington, just 20 minutes away, first at 11 a.m. and then again at 11:30 a.m., obviously "casing" the place.

He returned at 1:19 p.m. and attempted a robbery but the clerk set off the alarm and the man ran.

According to witnesses he had olive skin, brown eyes, was on the slender side and five-feet seven inches in height and had thinning dark hair.

Police from both sides of the state line are investigating both incidents. During the Antioch robbery, an undetermined amount of United States Currency was taken.

Churches to take part in prayer week

The cooperation churches of Antioch will conduct a prayer week service for Christian Unity at noon on Monday, Jan. 18, at St. Stephen Lutheran Church.

Father Robert Tonelli, of St. Peter Roman Catholic Church, will offer the homily for the approximately half hour service. There will be a period of refreshments and conversation after the service.

St. Stephen is at 1155 Hillside.

Building, zoning group poised for legal action

by IRIS MAYFIELD

Citizens from seven townships bucked the arctic cold to blast county zoning practices and amass documentation to present to the Illinois Atty. General's office.

Bruce Padbury, charter member of Citizens for Better Building and Zoning, conducted the Saturday morning meeting. Padbury said, "We have gone so far as to talk to the Illinois Atty. General's Office and (were) told if we can document enough, he will consider prosecution."

Padbury said the attorney general's office will take the case if there's more than two or three such incidents countywide "but we need your help," he said, addressing the group in the Lake Villa Twp. Hall. "This is open and blatant ignoring by officials in charge," he said.

Charter member Jo Garrett said, "In May, 1987, an 18-month-old child was run over and killed by her father's tractor in a residential zone. Her father was running a full-scale illegal nursery business for 10 months in full sight of the county," she said.

"I told Bob Streicher, (director, Lake County Building and Zoning Dept.) I tried to call attention to this," she noted.

Mary and Jake Campbell told how they had a private contractor build a home, which was inspected by the county, thus they were given an occupancy permit. After they had a fire in their chimney, "we found out this past October that the house was passed with code violations, one a fire violation."

And the accusing stories went on about how on-going zoning practices have led to unfair and sometimes harmful results. Jeff Lieber told how homes were built out of sheds, with no building permits. Jo Garrett told how a motorcycle gang turned a private home into a bar and cross-country campground for bikers.

The most common complaints and accusations were about businesses operating in residential areas with friends of officials receiving special treatment, and people appealing to Robert Streicher and County Board members, and receiving a deaf ear, no help, while shoddy building and zoning practices prevailed.

Padbury said, "There's a possibility of people here paying proper fees and operating businesses in residential areas and then not taxed for business."

Director Streicher was unavailable for comment.

The group's next meeting is 10:30 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 30, at the Lake Villa Twp. Hall, Grand Ave. and Fairfield Rd.

First National helps Halas

Just as the First National Bank of Antioch today recognizes customer and community opportunity, the founder of the First National Bank of Antioch, C.K. Anderson, recognized an opportunity in July 1933, when a struggling coach attempted to keep together a struggling football team.

Anderson and the First National Bank of Antioch were interested in what this football coach was trying to do. They provided him with the resources to keep his football team together and travel the road that would lead to New Orleans and Super Bowl XX.

This football coach was the great "Papa Bear", George Halas and the football team, The Chicago Bears.

In recognizing Halas' opportunity, Anderson and the First National Bank of Antioch were fortunate to be able to help this coach and his team.

Library will close door

The back door of the Antioch Community Library will be closed on Tuesday, Jan. 19 and Wednesday, Jan. 20 while new carpeting is being laid. The rest of the library will be open for business during the redecoration.

Gets Scouting's highest award

Change women's meeting to the Methodist Church

The Antioch Women's Club will meet on Monday, Jan. 18 at the United Methodist Church, 848 Main St. A board meeting at noon will precede the business meeting at 1 p.m. The next three meetings of the Women's Club will take place at the United Methodist Church because the usual meeting room at the State Bank of Antioch will be unavailable due to remodeling.

The program will feature Clark Weber, WJJD's "morning personality." Weber captivates his audiences with a pleasing mixture of the "Music of the Stars" and conversation on every topic imaginable with experts, celebrity guests and his ever-faithful listeners.

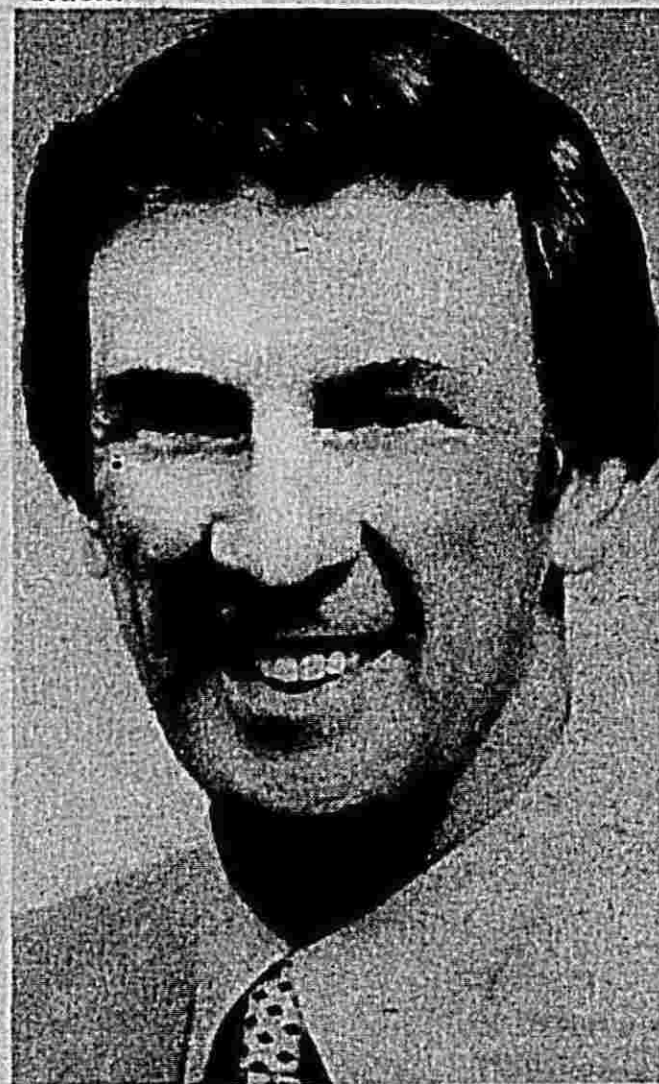

Weber has been well-known in the Chicago entertainment scene with career highlights such as introducing the Beatles at their 1964 Comiskey Park concert and being WLS-AM's morning man from 1963 through 1969, one of America's most musically dynamic eras.

His program is on WJJD-AM Monday through Friday from 5:30 to 10 a.m.

Program chairpersons are Beverly Sorensen and Genevieve Mularski.

Hostesses for this meeting are: Gladys Prihoda, Bernyce Parker, Shirley Jensen, Jan Hagstrom, Veronica Gohlbeck, Kay Castoff, Polly Bruhm, Lorraine Toton, Frances LaPlant, Louise Santino and Edna Ruck.

Cain gets Eagle Scout award from Troop 190

In December, Michael Colin Cain of Antioch's Boy Scout Troop 190, received Scouting's highest honor, the coveted Eagle Scout award. Cain, who is currently attending Illinois' new Math and Science Academy in Aurora, joined the Scouting movement in 1980 by becoming a Cub Scout in Pack 192 in Antioch.

While a Cub Scout, he earned the Parvulei Dei Award. Then, in 1983, he joined Boy Scout Troop 92 and earned various rank advancements, awards, and numerous merit badges including his junior leadership training award, World Conservation Award, and Tenderfoot through Star Scout ranks.

In March of 1986, he transferred to Boy Scout Troop 190 and diligently worked to achieve his Eagle Scout award, during which time he earned his Life Scout rank, Snorkeling B.S.A.

Award, C.O.P.E. Award, and induction into the Order of the Arrow.

In all, Cain has earned nine special Scouting awards, nine Skill Awards, 30 Merit Badges and six rank advancements including the Eagle Scout rank.

His Eagle Court of Honor included the troop's members and their families and also special guests, one of which was Dr. James Lueck, an Eagle Scout himself, who welcomed him into the Brotherhood of Eagles.

Cain's current plans include working on his Eagle Palms which he hopes to attain in the near future. Troop 190 is in partnership with St. Peter's Parish in Antioch.

Attaining the rank of Eagle Scout is quite an accomplishment for only two young men in 40 that join Scouting ever achieve this award.

The die has been cast—football, Chicago-style, is officially over for this winter. Now is the time late February. New board members are: President, Roger Giza; executive vice president, Doug Lang; treasurer, Paul Howard; secretary, Wayne Rey; as the Sequoits meet Warren's Blue Devils in the last home meet of this season. The excitement begins at 6:30 p.m. in the ACHS South Gym. Be there!

Is music more to your taste? The Antioch Dist. 34 beginning and intermediate band students will present their annual winter concert at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 21, at Antioch Grade School, 817 Main St.

This is a precious moment to watch youngsters who have only been playing together for a few months produce actual music. It's a delight for both musician and parent. Admission is free! Come early to get a good seat!

Don't forget the Ribs 'n Bibs dinner from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 16, at St. Peter's Social Center to benefit the athletic program at St. Peter's Catholic School.

If you prefer a fish boil dinner, the Northern Illinois Conservation Club will host one from 5 to 9 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 16, at My Brother's Place, 25855 W. Rte. 173, Antioch. For more information, call NICC at (312)395-6422.

vice president-senior boys, Joe Bivona; vice president, AAA, Tom Shaughnessy; vice president AA, Joe Corcoran; vice president junior-senior girls' softball, Corrine Morley.

Anyone interested in being the vice president for Little League (the position has not been filled yet) can call Giza at (312)395-7976 or Lang, (312)395-2908, for more information.

ACHS wrestling alumni! You are invited to join the 1987-88 wrestlers at an "Alumni Night" and after-meet reception in the Commons on Friday, Jan. 22, for all you Chicago Bear fans and your long-suffering wives to look for another winter pastime.

News & Notes

How about ice-skating, alpine skiing, cross country skiing, or even walking? Since the sun has returned to our town, the snow and the thought of spending even one more moment outside than necessary has taken a turn for the better.

So say good-bye to your returning college students, get off the couch, and get outside! This will keep you from getting "cabin fever." But, if sports are not your style, you can always redecorate your "cabin." Right, ladies?

Spring will be here soon! Why? Because the Antioch Youth Baseball organization has announced its 1988 Executive Board and will be holding registration in

ACHS to offer ACT aid

Beginning in February, Antioch Community High School will once again offer an ACT preparation course. All areas of the test will be covered: vocabulary, reading skills, grammar, math, natural science and social science.

Information will also be provided concerning the test format and content, as well as how colleges and universities use the test scores they receive. The course cannot increase a student's score dramatically, it could only help him do his best. Classes will begin on Monday, Feb. 8 and will be conducted every Monday and Wednesday during the month of February. The first session will be a three-hour pre-test based on the ACT examination. Remaining sessions are planned to run for two hours.

Students wishing to take the course should register in room 263 with Mrs. Whitton and pay the $10 fee. They should also purchase a copy of Barron's "How to Prepare for the ACT"—sixth edition, available in the resource center for $8.95.

Registration will be conducted from Monday until Friday, Jan. 29.

The class schedule is as follows: Monday, Feb. 8, 7 to 10 p.m.; Wednesday, Feb. 10; Monday, Feb. 15; Wednesday, Feb. 17; Monday, Feb. 22; Wednesday, Feb. 24 and Monday, Feb. 29.

Unless otherwise indicated, all sessions will be held between 7 and 9 p.m.

Students not attending Antioch High School may register by contacting Mr. Noonan at (312)395-1421, ext. 250.

Grace personified

St. Bede tourney at Gavin

St. Bede's will host its 19th annual basketball tournament on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 16 and 17, at Gavin South in Ingleside.

The first game on Saturday will begin at 10:30 a.m. with Lake

Villa Intermediate playing Magee Middle School, Round Lake. St. Peter of Antioch and Johnsbury Junior High will play at 11:30 a.m.; St. John the Baptist, Johnsbury, and St. Joseph, Round Lake, will play at 12:30 p.m.

Gavin will play St. Bede at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. On Sunday, consolation game will be at 11 a.m., third place game at noon, and the championship game at 1 p.m.

Jennings gets field experience

Theodore Jennings, a student at Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo., will be participating in an Early Field Experience at North Jr. High in Crystal Lake over his Christmas break. Jennings, a junior English major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jennings of Antioch.

Jennings will participate in the classroom, helping students individually, helping the teacher plan lessons, grading and preparing tests, attending faculty meetings, and cooperating with the teacher.

Jennings is one of 95 Culver-Stockton students involved in Early Field Experiences over Christmas vacation.

Antioch wrestlers win, lose

Last Thursday's meet was the Sequoits wrestlers' first since the holidays, and they defeated North Chicago at all three levels.

Junior varsity and freshmen both won with scores of 60-6, with varsity winning 61-6. There were eight forfeits at the varsity level.

North Chicago cut their wrestling program three years ago, with this being only their second year back.

Sequoits coach Ted DeRousse said they're still fragile. He feels this should be a lesson to schools who plan to cut sports programs, as it's so difficult to become competitive again.

At Libertyville on Friday night, it was a different story. Libertyville has a very strong program with some excellent wrestlers.

Antioch lost at all three levels: junior varsity 44-17, freshmen 45-22, and varsity 48-9.

The three varsity wins came from Tim Tointon, Bill Eves and Tim Sandrik.

The next home meet is on Jan. 22 against Warren. An alumni night is planned, with a special reception held in the commons area after the meet for all Antioch wrestlers.

This will be a chance for everyone who has been in Antioch's wrestling program to come back, see old friends, talk to the coaches and cheer Antioch on to victory.

Peace Corps seeks volunteers

The Chicago Peace Corps Office has a new number, 1-800-621-3670, that volunteers can call. Peace Corps volunteers serve for two years and work in such fields as education, health care, agriculture, math/science educators, industrial arts, farm mechanics, road construction, nursing and business. Volunteers receive a monthly living allowance, medical coverage, travel costs, language training and paid vacation. At the end of their service, they receive a readjustment allowance of $4,500.

Announce Hoop Shoot contest

The local competition for the 16th annual Elks Hoop Shoot, the national free throw shooting contest for youngsters age eight through 13, will be held at Waukegan East High School on Jan. 23 at 9 a.m. Each contestant has 25 shots at the hoop. Best scores qualify for the national finals in Indianapolis.

IMSA announces openings

Antioch Community High School has been informed by the Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy (IMSA) in Aurora, that applications for admission to IMSA for the 1988-89 school year are now being accepted.

IMSA provides a three-year residential experience designed to promote mathematics and science learning within the context of a comprehensive liberal arts program.

Ninth grade students interested in applying to IMSA, who are currently attending Antioch High School, or their parents may contact Tim Noonan, ACHS Guidance Department chairman, to obtain the necessary application materials. IMSA has established a deadline of April 1 for candidates to have their applications on file with the admissions office at the academy.

Candidates for admission must also take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and have the test results forwarded to IMSA. Applicants should plan to take the SAT examination on either Saturday, Jan. 23 or Saturday, March 19.

Registration forms for the SAT may be obtained at the College-Career Center at Antioch High School. IMSA has indicated that scores from SAT examinations scheduled after April 1 may not be received in time for processing by the academy.

Carstensen checks, finds Vault building heated

As of last week, when Antioch Building Inspector Chick Carstensen checked the apartments in the building on Main St., next to the Vault Restaurant, the main furnace was on.

The village board had been concerned with reports that people were living in the building without heat or else with just the heat given off by dangerous electric space heaters.

"When I checked the main furnace was going and residents were also getting auxiliary heat from electric space heaters like so many other people in Antioch during the frigid temperatures," said Carstensen.

The village will keep checking that the building's electricity, water and heat are in operation until the project planned by the new owners of the restaurant, the tearing down of the building for the restaurant's expansion, takes place.

The spot where the building now stands is scheduled to become a parking lot after the existing parking lot to the south of the restaurant is eliminated in favor of building an atrium dining room.

Library to offer reading

The Antioch Township Library will have a preschool reading program starting Feb. 11 through April 30.

There are lots of activities planned for children ages two-nine.

Movies will be shown once a month on Saturday at 2 p.m. Registration will be taken Jan. 18 through Jan. 30. For more information call (312)395-0874.

The Lindenhurst Soccer League will hold its spring-fall soccer registration for the 1988 season from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Fridays, Jan. 15 and 22, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturdays, Jan. 16 and 23.

Registration will be held at the Lindenhurst Village Hall, 2301 E. Sand Lake Rd. in Lindenhurst.

The league will be divided into separate boys and girls teams for ages six, seven, eight, nine, 10 and 11, and 12 and 13. These age groups will play together both spring and fall seasons.

Registration fee is $25 for the first child, $20 for each additional child in the family. The fee applies for the entire 1988 season. Participants who will be playing in high school during the fall season may participate only in the spring season, and pay $15. Each participant is provided with soccer shirt, shorts and socks.

All games are played at the Oakland School or Antioch High School fields, located at the corners of Deep and Grass Lake Rds., or Forest View fields on Grass Lake Rd. Games are played Saturdays between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. The spring season is from April 23 to June 25, and the fall season from Sept. 10 to Oct. 22.

For further information, call the Lindenhurst Recreation Dept., (312)356-6011.

Wedding

Elfering-Pauly

St. Peter's Church in Antioch was the setting for the Oct. 17 wedding of Michelle Elfering and Richter Pauly, Jr., both of Antioch.

The bride, daughter of Al and Lucille Elfering of Antioch, was given away by her father in the double-ring ceremony, with Rev. Lawrence Hanley officiating. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richter Pauly, Sr. of Antioch.

Kim Pauly, the groom's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kathy Baur and Cheryl Ehlert, sisters of the bride, and Denise Greenwald was junior bridesmaid.

The bride's brother, John Elfering, served as best man. Groomsmen were John and Dave Horton, and the bride's cousin Jim Elfering.

A reception was held for the couple at the Tower Room, with 250 guests in attendance. The newlyweds spent a honeymoon in the Bahamas.

The bride is a graduate of Antioch Community High School, and is em-

Ideas for better things to accomplish in 1988

by GLORIA DAVIS

Now that the scurry and bustle of the holidays is over and the kids are back in school, the annual "let down" time has arrived.

Not only is it cold and grey and sort of empty outside to match the inside of everyone's wallet now that they've gotten their property tax bills, but after Sunday's grid fiasco, it looks like our local boys will not be going to San Diego, so little excitement seems to be looming on the horizon.

going on in the world, it's nice to know that one man was responsible for saving the lives of 90,000 Jews in 1944-45. Swedish diplomat Raoul Wallenberg accomplished this near the end of World War II. Although the Soviets who imprisoned him have pronounced him dead, rumors that he is still alive persist and he was made an honorary citizen of the United States in 1981.

Then of course we have the biggest footwear collector of all time, Imelda Marcos and her 6,000 shoes. Too bad she

When I Think About It

We can sit back and look at 1987 with either satisfaction or disappointment and vow to do better in 1988, but that also seems to fall in the same category as eating one's spinach because the people in Biafra are starving.

Some can get the impetus to get up off our "tooshes" and start accomplishing in a big way from people that were "Number Uno" in their own way.

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, Stephen Spielberg's movie about an extra terrestrial being's efforts to "go home" is the all time box office high grosser, having garnered $322 million dollars of movie goers money to date.

The highest paid stunt man in Hollywood is Dar Robinson who received $100,000 for one jump from an airplane from 1,100 feet up and for not letting his parachute open until he was 300 feet from the ground for the movie "High Point."

No audited figures have ever been released telling exactly how many records Elvis Presley sold, but the fact that he had 170 hit singles and 80 hit albums has gained him succession to the "best record selling single artist throne" from Bing Crosby who sold 300 million records.

Fred Finn holds the record for taking the most supersonic trips back and forth from Europe on the Concorde having made 604 rather speedy crossings.

In sort of a negative first vein, Sophia Loren and her husband Carlo Ponti received the highest individual fine on record when they were hit with a fine of $26 million by the Italian government for back taxes.

With all the killing and devastation had to leave them behind in the Philippines!

But if you want to be a really big accomplisher, take a lesson from Guy Stewart of Ohio, who made 130,077 jumps on his pogo stick in two days a few years ago.

Guess which athlete made the most money during his career! Muhammad Ali collected $69 million on his way to "Punchville."

If you are wondering if crime pays, the highest gross income ever achieved in a single year was $105 million earned by Al Capone. This money was derived from illegal liquor sales, stills, gambling establishments, protection rackets, dog races, etc. On his business card, Capone described himself as a "second hand furniture dealer."

The absolute "craziest person ever" just had to be miserly Hettie Green, who lived on cold oatmeal and left $95 million when she died.

The greatest robbery on record was that committed at the Reichbank following Germany's collapse in 1945 when $3 billion disappeared. And Dudley Wayne Kyzer received the longest sentence ever as he was remanded to serve 10,000 years for a triple murder that included his mother-in-law's.

Finally, for one of the most dubious firsts, Roy C. Sullivan was struck by lightning seven times and lived to tell about it until he died by his own hand.

Any ideas given you for a bigger and better 1988 were most gladly imparted. If you start now, you too may break some kind of record in 1988. Has anyone ever recorded the most bubbles in succession blown from one piece of bubble gum? Now that would be special!

CORRECTION

Antioch High School will not be having senior class valedictorians and salutatorians speak at graduation in the future.

Starting with the 1989 graduation, the students with the first and second highest grade point average will no longer be recognized separately.

Now that ACHS has adopted the weighted grade system, starting in 1989, students with a 4.85 grade point average or more will all be recognized as cum laude graduates. The cum laude grade point average is expected to go up each year.

Traffic court desperadoes

Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt rents space in several outlying communities for branch circuit traffic courts. It saves motorists and police time and eases the load at the main court in Waukegan.

If some Fox Lake Trustees have their way, though, Fox Lake won't be one of those towns much longer. Despite the $30,000 that it brings in annually to the village, some trustees believe the branch court has outlived its usefulness in their town. Besides, they claim they need the space.

During a village board meeting, Fox Lake Trustee Margaret Paull went so far as to ask, "Who knows what kind of scuz-bags hang around the halls during court?"

A few years ago, Fox Lake was very anxious to get the branch court in town. It was in competition with several other communities for what was then considered a plum. According to then Fox Lake Mayor Joseph Armondo, it allowed the village to make the village hall a little more roomy.

We occasionally have the opportunity to visit the Fox Lake Village Hall when court is in session. Some of us have even had occasion to visit other traffic courts.

We had thought that if Fox Lake gave the branch court the boot, other communities would once again line up to try to get it. But Trustee Paull brings up a point we were not aware of. We did not know such desperadoes were hanging around the halls of traffic court and we think Paull should give a fuller description.

No doubt, the fiend with a missing tail light is probably there. The judge probably had to order extra guards when the case of the menacing muffler came up. We've heard rumors that the case of the speed demon from Hades is coming up on the docket soon.

Traffic court is usually considered the most mundane of all courtrooms. The bailiffs, attorneys and judges all owe Trustee Paull their gratitude for pointing out what a life of high adventure they lead.

Bigger means better--it says

Not so surprising, the 12th annual survey of recent home buyers conducted by Chicago Title Insurance Co. substantiated what a lot of people already know--that home prices in metropolitan housing markets were up sharply in 1987.

Some of the surprising finds, though, were that condominium sales dropped from 17 percent to 12 percent; a four-year trend of shrinking first time buyers was reversed; there is a growing percentage of buyers in the married couple with two family income category and the percentage of first-time buyers in the single-family home category increased.

We were intrigued by the finding that the average monthly mortgage payment is closing in on the $1,000 mark. Average monthly payment for repeat buyers increased seven percent to $998 and the overall monthly mortgage payment average rose from $852 to $939.

The survey found that the average home price (total dollar volume divided by total sales) rose 16 percent to $133,410. A spokesperson for the poll noted that the distribution was significantly skewed by a disproportionate number of very expensive home sales. The market is becoming pretty shock proof pricewise in this area. Homes around Lake County in the $1 million range are becoming commonplace. A residential development has been proposed for Fremont Township where homes in the high six figures and the $1 million mark will be standard. Sales are brisk even though prices continue to skyrocket. Builders love them because expensive homes are extremely profitable, many of them approaching a markup of 100 percent of cost. Municipalities love high priced housing because of the boost to assessed valuation and the accompanying increases in tax revenue.

In Lake County, there is no reverse seen in this trend for bigger and more expensive housing.

Letters To The Editor

Thanks from Winchester

Editor:

To Lake County citizens:

As an employee of Winchester House for the past five years I have witnessed numerous acts of generosity from the warm-hearted citizens of Lake County. I am amazed and truly grateful for the outpouring of support we continue to receive. The impact that you, as a community, have on our elderly population cannot be overstated. How do I describe the feelings and emotions that transpire when 359 residents each receive a beautiful gift at Christmas? Through the Secret Santa Program you have provided these gifts because you are caring, concerned citizens of Lake County.

You made it possible for an 85-year-old woman to comfort a volunteer's two-month-old child until the crying turned to laughter, and a 92-year-old man to reminisce about his younger years while playing checkers with an enthusiastic 12-year-old.

So many acts of goodwill have occurred. They have come from volunteers of all ages and socio-economic backgrounds. Where would we be without your involvement? How do I begin to calculate all the tender moments out residents treasure through experiences you provided? Well, there is one thing for sure, the residents of Winchester House are truly fortunate to live in such an upstanding community filled with compassionate, loving citizens. Thank you.

Have someone take Margaret Paull on the side and explain to her that an elected official and a business owner does not refer to people who are already facing court problems as "scuz bags." Margaret needs to class up and show some style.

Bizarre activities

Editor:

Atheist Rob Sherman complains of persecution comparable to that of the Jews. The only way he can attract attention is by the bizarre activities in which he engages.

All members of society as represented by Mr. Sherman--atheists--will be benefitted by a change of location to a country where atheism is the norm.

Fast Eddie's got eye on new politics

by BILL SCHROEDER

They don't call him "Fast Eddy" for nothing. Former Alderman Edward Vrdolyak, one-time Chicago Democratic powerhouse who stunned Windy City political observers last September when he switched parties, is fast, all right. But he's also tough, smart and he works hard.

Vrdolyak is working hard--and fast--to ingrain himself with his new party. That's smart. He's been getting acquainted with Republicans in Cook County. That's easy. They're aren't many of them. But he's also been meeting Republicans in suburban Cook County, places like Northbrook, New Trier Twp. and Flossmoor, pretty good GOP country. Now Vrdolyak is heading farther north into even more Republican territory--Lake County. That's how he comes to be the headline speaker at the annual Grant Twp. Republican Lincoln Day dinner to be held Saturday, Feb. 6 at Fox Lake. Just about anyone who is anybody in the Lake County Republican party will be in Fox Lake that night. Vrdolyak won't be finding many votes in Fox Lake in his quest for election as clerk of the Circuit Court in Cook County. But he'll make a lot of friends. Smart Eddy. Fast Eddy.

Vrdolyak, the son of a South Side tavern owner, grew up with steel workers. He knows that blunt talk and honesty is the best policy. Vrdolyak's story now is that the Democratic party that helped people raise their families in Chicago--FDR Democrats--no longer exists. He insists that Chicago problems are everyone's problems. "The Republican party can no longer be timid about city issues. We have to let ethnics know, we have to let minorities know--we're not afraid, we're here, we're going to be here after election day and we can help," is the way the one-time personal injury lawyer put it in talking to a magazine writer.

Was Eddie talking about the Republican party or himself? What the heck, it's all the same--as far as Vrdolyak's concern.

Vrdolyak offered a candid observation about the state of politics in Chicago in light of Mayor Harold Washington's death and the fact that he might have been mayor had he not quit to campaign for the job in a losing cause last April.

"That's stupid: First, no white man is going to float to the top in all this--and no white man should. Second, I'm happy as hell where I am. It's going to get worse in the Democratic party, not better."

This is the kind of talk Vrdolyak's enemies and liberals call racist. Vrdolyak calls it just facing facts. One thing is sure with the reborn Republican. He'll be campaigning in white Democratic wards and probably getting votes. Vrdolyak's campaign will be a referendum on the new politics in Chicago. Is it black vs. white? Or Democrat vs. Republican?

Fast talk. Blunt talk. That's Eddie Vrdolyak. Fast Eddie of Chicago. Republicans should have a ball at the Grant Lincoln Day dinner. And who knows? Maybe Fast Eddie is on to something.

WANTED--Those "Wanted" posters all around Highland Park and Ft. Sheridan for Charles J. Lucas are in jest. It's just a novel way of letting Lucas' friends and co-workers know that he's the honoree at a luncheon Wednesday in recognition of more than 44 years of federal government service. Lucas' service includes active and Army reserve duty and civil service. Lucas was general chairman of Ft. Sheridan's centennial celebration last year. A resident of Grayslake, he also served more than a quarter of a century as a village trustee. Hat's off to Charlie!

PLAIN TALK--Credit State Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-McHenry County) with plain talk that makes sense for the reason for promoting a good business climate in Illinois. "When people in Illinois are working, the state receives more revenue without having to raise taxes." Well put. Democrats and liberals criticize Schaffer for being pro-business, but we think he's on an unassailable plain in linking high employment with state income. Where do Schaffer's critics stand on the question of maintaining a good business climate?

ONE MAN'S FAMILY--Birthdays come in clumps in our family so we tried something new this year--a group birthday party. Bill, Bob and son-in-law Ralph all celebrate within days so the single celebration was a natural. Like Christmas all over. We recommend it to other families in similar straits.

Foreman reputation growing rapidly

LAKE COUNTY STATE'S Atty. Fred Foreman is getting very familiar with the White House. As president of the national State's Atty.'s Assn., he has met twice with President Ronald Reagan to discuss nominees to the Supreme Court.

During his tenure, Foreman has established a strong reputation statewide and with his peers across the nation. Many people in Lake County do not realize the stature Foreman has achieved. This is a local boy who is making good.

Just Politics

By Charles Johnston

With no primary opposition, Foreman is in the enviable position of being able to help out a fellow state's attorney.

On Thursday, Feb. 11, Foreman will host a joint fundraising dinner at the Country Squire in Grayslake for himself and McHenry County State's Atty. Tom Baker. Baker does have opposition.

Anyone interested in attending the function should call (312) 623-5277.

In 1990, Illinois Atty. General Neil Hartigan will almost certainly run for governor. Don't be surprised if the Republican candidate for the office turns out to be none other than our own Fred Foreman.

ONCE AGAIN, THE regular Republicans have shown why they can win even when the numbers are against them. Lake County Republican Chairman Bob Neal is an excellent strategist.

With the County Board seats of nine regular Republicans up and only one independent Republican, Neal has virtually assured that there will be no more than a few votes changing after election - and regulars have a decent shot at adding a seat.

In Dist. 5, incumbents Andrea Moore and James Dolan, both of Libertyville are being challenged by Warren Twp. Sup. and former County Board Member Robert Depke. All are regulars, so no matter who wins, there will be no change.

The two toughest battle grounds are in Dist. 4 and Dist. 6. In Dist. 4, incumbents James Fields of Antioch and Fred Popp of Lake Villa are being challenged by Larry Leafblad of rural Avon Twp. and Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa. Leafblad and Schmidt are executing a well-coordinated, effective campaign. Popp's seat appears fairly safe, but it will probably be a donnybrook between Fields and Leafblad.

While both Leafblad and Schmidt would be independents if elected, they are both likely to cooperate with all factions.

In Dist. 6, incumbent Jerry Beyer of Wauconda is running with Wayne Miller against incumbent C. Richard Anderson of Barrington and Roberta O'Reilly. Beyer and Miller are the regulars, Anderson and O'Reilly the independents. This is the only clear-cut clash between the two Republican factions. Beyer seems certain to win reelection and Anderson has to be seen as the front-runner for the second spot. But Miller, who is Cuba Twp. Supervisor, is an attractive candidate with a strong following.

The waters were a bit muddier when Ela Twp. Sup. Bob Grever filed for the primary, too. But Neal and other regulars convinced Grever to back out and let it be a straight race of two regulars against two independents. Watch for Grever to challenge Bruce Hansen (R-Lake Zurich) two years from now - with the blessing of the regulars.

COUNTY BOARD MEMBER Bruce Hansen (R-Lake Zurich), one of the independent Republicans, is a perfect example of why the regulars keep winning. Both regulars and independents thought two years ago that Hansen was a man with a lot of potential. He has a flair with words and a good instinct for issues. But the man doesn't do his homework.

In Ela Twp., Hansen helped recruit candidates for precinct committeemen to challenge Ela Twp. Sup. Bob Grever's hold over the political machinery. That's fine. Such battles are what politics are all about. Seven of the Hansen-sponsored candidates were knocked off the ballot in challenges. Five of those candidates did not have sufficient signatures on their petitions. Two of those candidates only had one signature on their petitions. It only takes 10 signatures to get on the ballot for precinct committeeman.

Anyone who sponsors candidates who can't manage to get 10 valid signatures on their petitions is kidding themselves about mounting an effective political takeover battle.

Hansen still has potential and he is an affable fellow. But he has gotten too enamored with the sound of his own voice. If he's serious about taking a leadership role in this county, he should mouth off less and spend more time doing his homework.

THE LAST EFFECTIVE leader the independent Republicans had was Norm Geary (R-Grayslake). Geary's influence has declined on the board, but in his prime he was a masterful politician.

Over the last few years, Geary has taken control of most of the precinct organizations in his home township, Avon. He didn't do it by putting up people who couldn't get 10 signatures, either.

Geary does his homework and when he was County Board chairman, showed a remarkable ability to put together coalitions.

Until the independents can find such leadership again, they are doomed to continue flailing about without accomplishing much of anything.

Just send money please!

by GLORIA DAVIS

For the fourth day in a row, our mailbox was filled with missives from various promotional companies, informing us in blazing color on the envelope that we have just won "the big one!"

Everyone can identify with our growing irritation with mail that tells us that we have positively won a trip to Florida, $50 million, and/or the world and just as we start to celebrate, they burst our bubble with codicils that inform us that we haven't exactly won - but, if we purchase something, we just might!

There should be some kind of law forcing said promotional companies to tell the entire story at once instead of using untrue "grabbers" to get us to open the envelope.

We all know that "truth and lending" in advertising has extremely loose guidelines, but being downright misleading, a tool almost tantamount to con-artistry, is going just a bit too far.

The American people can be fooled just so long, and if most people react the same as we do, they don't even open these bits of misrepresentation anymore, sending them sailing directly into the old circular file.

So it all adds up to a big waste of time on the promoters' part, that of the U. S. Post Office in expediting said missives, and that of the recipients, if only in the time wasted in sorting and tossing.

Statistics report that a single commercial mailing of one typewritten page costs in the area of $1.85 per. Add to that the horrendous costs of the colored brochures included in some of these infamous mailings, multiplied by national mailing figures, and one might arrive at dollar amounts rivaling the national budget deficit.

If these companies feel they just must send us more and more of these unsolicited, unwanted sales promos, why don't they just send us the money they cost instead?

The result as far as they are concerned will be the same only they will have one happy postal patron who will be more likely to buy their product (maybe using the promo money) when not irritated with it.

Reflection of community

Editor:

Since the not so "good"-paid Dist. 118 teachers are nevertheless expected to teach "good," according to Wauconda Mayor McGill in the local papers, maybe they will volunteer a remedial English class for him.

A school system will reflect the community that maintains it.

Until the Wauconda community considers and takes pride in that school system as their best investment and asset, the students-our children-who might aspire to be better, are the losers.

Owners of large complexes must pay tenants interest

Q. I have been living in an apartment complex for several years and am now planning on moving out. When the landlord returns my security deposit, will I be entitled to interest?

A. First of all, you neglected to state how many units your apartment complex has. Illinois law requires landlords of apartment buildings containing 25 or more units to pay at a rate of five percent interest per year on security deposits they hold for more than six months. The interest must be paid within 30 days after the end of each 12-month rental period.

It may be paid by either cash or credit applied to rent which is due; however, when the tenant is in default under provisions of the lease, the landlord does not have to pay the interest.

If a landlord does not pay interest when it is due, the tenant has the option of taking the landlord to court. If the landlord intentionally fails or refuses to pay interest as required by law, the court can order him to pay the tenant the amount equal to the deposit, together with court costs and reasonable attorney fees.

Q. My husband and I are in a dispute over a bill we believe we do not owe. We have been plagued with calls from a debt collection agency. Can they legally continue to harass us?

A. No. There are state and federal laws that protect you from abusive, deceptive, and unfair debt collection practices. If you are disputing a debt, you should notify the agency or collector, in writing, within 30 days. Make it clear that you are in dispute over the bill and are working at a speedy resolution.

Generally, a collection agency or a debt collector, under state or federal laws, is a person or business entity (other than an attorney at law) who engages in the business of collecting debts for others. A business which uses a fictitious name to collect its own accounts may also be covered by these laws.

Following is a partial list of unlawful debt collection tactics. A collection agency or debt collector may not:

- Use or threaten force or physical violence.
- In most cases, threaten to communicate with your employer.
- Harass you or any of your family members.
- Use profane, obscene or abusive language.
- Fail to disclose the business name for which the debt collection is being made.

6. Misrepresent the amount of the debt owed.

If you believe you have been a victim of unlawful or unfair debt collection practices, contact the Illinois Dept. of Registration and Education, your local Attorney General's Office, or a private attorney. Any of them will be able to advise you as to whether unlawful practices have been used, and if so, what would be your best course of action.

The Great Race and how the race is run

by GARY S. MEYERS

Ever wonder how different investment would perform when compared to one another? When you follow "The Great Race" you can compare the results every week as nine typical consumer investments compete head to head.

In 1988, would you be better off in stocks, bonds, precious metals or savings certificates? Find out as we track how well our favorite ponies run toward achieving financial goals.

Introducing the investment horses and how they run: (Values for all the market investments, Over The Counter, Lipper, Gold, Silver, T-Bill, T-Bond and Blue Chip, are based on Wednesday close.)

NASDAQ Over the Counter Stock (OTC) has the pole position. OTC is based on the NASDAQ composite index. This index, calculated by the National Assn. of Securities Dealers, measures the performance of common stocks that are generally newer, less expensive issues than those included in the Dow Jones industrial average.

The NASDAQ Composite appears in the "Rate" column on the left side of the Great Race.

Money Market Funds: Offered by the Wall Street crowd, this interest-bearing savings/checking account has its rate calculated weekly and compounded daily.

We use an index made up of the seven-day yields of nine major funds: Merrill Lynch Ready Assets, Kemper Money Market, Dreyfus Liquid Assets, Cash Management Trust, Daily Cash Accumulation, Paine Webber Cashfund, Shearson Daily Dividend, Fidelity Cash Reserves and Hutton AMA Cash Fund.

The average yield of our index appears in the "Rate" column.

Lipper Mutual Funds: The Great Race relies on a weekly index of 30 funds, created by Lipper Analytical Services, Inc. The firm is the source on mutual funds. We will factor in dividends and sales commissions. For 1988, a sales commission of 4.68 was charged on the purchase, the average for load, low-load and no-load funds in the index for purchases of $10,000 or less. We purchased 29.38 shares at an average price of $33.91.

The average share price appears in the "Rate" column.

Three and one-half year Certificate (CD): This longer-term savings filly was "purchased" on Jan. 4, 1988, paying 7.78 interest, compounded weekly. The interest credited here will change weekly and will be based on The Meyers Report weekly survey of financial institutions across the nation.

The annual yield of the CD, 7.78 percent, appears in the "Rate" column.

90-day Treasury Bill: A 90-day bill purchased in January paying 5.9 percent will be rolled over in April, at the auction rate in effect then. It will then be rolled over for another 90 days in July, and for the last time in October.

The "Rate" column contains the interest rate of the T-bill we own.

Gold: On Jan. 4, 'The Great Race made a hypothetical investment of $1,000 and "bought" 2.07 ounces of gold at $478.10 per ounce, after deducting $10 for sales commissions. The value of our holding will change weekly based upon the price of gold on the New York Commodities Exchange (COMEX).

A storage fee of about 0.0675 percent of the purchase price will also be deducted quarterly. The commission and storage charge are for purchases of under $10,000.

The "Rate" column has the price of gold per troy ounce as of the Wednesday close.

Silver: On Jan. 4, The Great Race made a hypothetical investment of $1,000 and "bought" 151.47 troy ounces of silver at $6.47 each, after deducting $20 for sales commissions. The value of our holding will change weekly based upon the price of silver on the COMEX.

A storage fee of about 0.0675 percent of the purchase price also will be deducted quarterly. The commission and storage charge are for purchases of under $10,000.

The "Rate" column has the Wednesday close of silver per troy ounce.

30-year Treasury Bond: It cost us $991 to purchase on the secondary market a 30-year treasury bond with a face value of $1,000 and a coupon rate of 8 and seven-eighths percent, due in August, 2017. The bond earns $88.75 interest each year until maturity, paid semi-annually.

We paid a sales charge of $9 to buy the bond. The current value of the bond ($991) will fluctuate as key interest rates change.

The current yield of the bond is expressed in the "Rate" column.

Blue Chip Stock: This horse is created from the Dow Jones industrial average. Price changes reflect the proportional changes in the Dow Jones index. An "average" dividend is added quarterly. We bought 14.439 shares at $67.18 per share.

Like the other investments that require a commission, for 1988 a commission of 3 percent will be charged on the purchase, based on a typical commission for small investors buying less than $5,000 in stock.

The average share price is used in the "Rate" column.

Attorney Greisheimer wins MRAA Legislative Award

Waukegan attorney Ron Greisheimer was awarded the 1987 Marine Retailers Assn. of America (MRAA) Legislative Award at the MRAA Convention in Las Vegas, Nev.

Greisheimer was honored for his role in the development of the marinas north of Chicago. It acknowledges his role as an Illinois state legislator in the creation of an attitude in the State Legislature of understanding regarding the economic value of Lake Michigan marina developments.

Greisheimer, along with Jerry Larsen of Larsen Marine in Waukegan and other Lake County marine dealers, sponsored events hosting state legislators in cooperation with the charter boat operators in the Waukegan Harbor area.

Two of these functions, several years apart, with the marine industry and charter boat captains acting as hosts, led to this understanding by the legislators. This in turn led to enactment of the legislation enabling the marinas to reach fruition. Greisheimer led these efforts in Springfield.

Greisheimer currently has a private law practice in Waukegan with the firm of Griesheimer, Martin & Dougherty.

New Year

best investment opportunities.

But, especially watch out for housing values in the "oil patch," Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana. The decline in oil prices even now is pushing home values down, so some very fine buys will be found there in 1988.

Volatility could be the order of the day here, just as in the stock market. Overall, look for interest rates to be slightly lower for most of the year.

The 30-year Treasury bond will be influenced by the housing market. If the demand for mortgages appears strong, long-term bonds could go higher.

During the first half of the year, which accounts for the bulk of housing sales, the 30-year Treasury bond could fall to 8 percent. Then it could rise briefly to 12 percent, just before the November presidential election.

The net result of the rate increases rises will be much clamoring, but little real impact on home buyers, most of whom will already have completed their home purchases.

Look for the Dow Jones industrial average to hit 2400, possibly in the late spring. But the market will continue to be volatile. Daily moves of 50 points in the Dow will have no effect on the average investor; the big players will be the ones to feel the pain. There will be tremendous trading opportunities and risks in 1988.

Increased abundance will be the key for pricing of gold and silver. All the major suppliers of these metals need hard cash to satisfy their financial requirements.

In 1988, gold should stay within a trading range of $460 to $530 per ounce.

Silver could have a proportionately wider fluctuation, with a trading range of $6.50 to $8.50 per ounce. Larger jumps to $10 or $20, seen several years ago, are not in the cards for the new year.

For the whole of 1988, our economy will grow by 2.5 percent to 3.5 percent. However, the quarterly figures could be very erratic and might even post a decline.

The reason for this statistical volatility will be sharp movement in the stock market. Paper profits and losses (fluctuations in the amount of wealth), recorded by highly leveraged institutional investors will distort reports on the health of the economy.

For example, how Texaco comes out of its suit with Pennzoil could add $10 to $30 per share in the value of either stock—and that would add billions of dollars to the GNP, without anything actually happening, according to one analyst. This is one of dozens and dozens of similar stories, he said.

Look for unemployment overall to move between 5.8 percent and 6.3 percent, ending the year at about 6 percent.

Regional unemployment rates should run from 4 percent to 7 percent or more. If you want a good job, you may have to move as the Rust Belt begins to shine and the Sun Belt dims.

Production of housing should grow steadily. Expect 1.75 million units or more to be built in 1988. If interest rates hold or go lower, that number could increase to 1.9 million units.

Our cost of living and production should not rise by more than 3.5 percent, in real terms. However, a declining U.S. dollar could make that index appear to climb higher, though not above 5 percent. This would have little real impact upon most Americans, because it will be primarily the imported foreign goods that get more expensive, not our domestic products.

Overall, this is great news for American farmers and manufacturers. The world will want our goods because they are less expensive.

Illinois Bell offers new feature for businesses

Illinois Bell has a new way for Chicago area small businesses to reap benefits from 800 service.

At the Naperville Business Expo '88, Illinois Bell announced a new feature of its Chicago Area 800 Service that doesn't require a dedicated line, substantially reducing the charges for the service.

"With this service, a business owner gets all the advantages of an 800 number, without the high cost," said Pat Herron, Illinois Bell product manager. "This feature doesn't require a dedicated access line to handle the 800 number calls."

All calls are answered on a regular phone line. No additional access line or telephone equipment is needed.

"Many independent businesses don't have room on their existing phone system or the budget to expand to accommodate traditional 800 service," Herron said. "This feature is priced to be affordable for the small business owner."

The charge for Illinois Bell's Chicago Area 800 Service, which works with a line dedicated to answer only the 800 number calls, is $25 per month per access line plus a usage charge varies with the amount of time the number is used.

This new feature, because it does not require any additional equipment, is only $12.50 per month plus a $12 per hour usage fee. Both services are available to business owners in the 312 area code.

The new feature will be available beginning Jan. 15. Those interested should call 1-800-428-5111 ext. 800.

Koenig & Strey sees record sales

Koenig & Strey, Inc. Realtors announced its sales volume for December increased by 37.6 percent over the previous year. Executive Vice President and General Sales Manager Christopher J. Eigel said it was the strongest December ever for the firm. Residential sales rose from $20.7 million in December, 1986 to $28.3 million for December of 1987. The average price for a home rose from $203,318 to $238,224 during that period, an increase of 17.1 percent.

The man with the plows

Martin G. Buehler, superintendent of the Lake County Div. of Transportation, formerly the Lake County Highway Dept., thinks it is time people know his department does more than move snow. Change of department's name was adopted by County Board in December. Buehler believes it more accurately reflects department's responsibilities, which run the gamut from road work to coordinating transportation plans with Regional Transportation Authority. For more information, see related story below.—Photo by John Doetsch

Highway Dept. changes more than just a name

by IRIS MAYFIELD

What's in a name? A lot says Martin G. Buehler, with the county since 1973 as a summer construction worker, now Lake County Supt. of Highways. The Lake County Board changed the name of the Lake County Highway Dept. name to the Lake County Div. of Transportation at his suggestion.

Why? Buehler says, "The major reason is the lack of understanding of the responsibility of the growing transportation system."

Lake is an urbanizing county, he says, just like DuPage. "We patterned the name after what they have used."

The name change may indicate changing patterns and new traffic problems facing Lake Countians, as shown by a traffic study done in November, 1987. In 1980, 15 percent of county roads were congested, while in 2005 it will be 32 percent.

Why not more surface carriers to answer the problem? Buehler says, "Traditional transit service, (buses and the like) are not feasible or cost effective for the type of growth happening in Lake County."

He says Lake County growth is too dense for a highway network, but it's not dense enough for a traditional transit system. "A bus route in Lake County only returns 30 percent of its cost," he says.

"We can't build enough roads, so we either lower the demand by doing less building or we shift some of that demand," Buehler says, adding, "We have to go to non-traditional transit."

He says that the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA) is interested in doing that through its transportation management association. It works with businesses along a congested corridor to get them to use car-pools and stagger work hours.

What it all boils down to, Buehler says, is that while his division is known for its responsibility of caring for the 260 miles of county highways, a general lack of knowledge exists in other transportation areas, such as his department's interworkings with RTA, METRA and PACE.

Buehler became Lake County Dir. of Transportation and Supt. of Highways in 1984. He worked for the division in construction while attending the University of Illinois, majoring in civil engineering. In 1975 he received his master's degree in civil engineering from Northwestern University while on a leave of absence. Then he became a traffic engineer for the county.

Happy New Year--that's what 1988 should be

by GARY S. MEYERS and ROBERT STENBECK

Generally, 1988 is going to be a good year for most Americans. The new year should be one of low interest rates, a hot housing market, continued expansion of our economy, and low unemployment.

Don't be surprised to see American industry flex its muscles and take foreign markets by storm. This could bring a dramatic improvement in our balance of trade.

The U.S. dollar still has room to decline further. Although the government will give lip service to supporting the dollar, there remains a desire on the part of the Reagan administration to improve our competitive position—and that means a cheaper dollar.

The falling dollar could cause some sporadic—and temporary—interest-rate increases during the year. This should bolster the stock market's confidence.

The U.S. dollar could fall to 100 Japanese yen, making our labor and production costs cheap enough for Japanese automakers to manufacture cars here for shipping back to Japan.

Interest rate trends will be gradually downward for the next six to eight months. There may be some slight upswings in March or June, triggered by the falling dollar. But don't let that scare you.

Bonds bombed in 1987, as interest rates went higher, but 1988 should be a different story.

During the first half of 1988, look for rates on 30-year fixed mortgages to go below 10 percent, with some lenders offering loans in the low 9 percent range. Fifteen-year loans will be even lower.

Be on the lookout for the biweekly mortgage, which will be a hot item in the new year. It will carry lower interest rates and faster payoff times for borrowers.

In many areas, home values will appreciate 15 percent or more in 1988. The American dream is still one of your

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Don't be so preoccupied with work that you neglect your friends.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) You'll want to do something extra nice for your family; they've stood by you during your recent turbulence. The week will move quickly, so think fast.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) If you're feeling in an especially extravagant mood, take great care that you don't go beyond your means. Concentrate on lucrative matters at the office.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) You've been yearning for some rest and relaxation, and now is the time to go for it. It would be nice to bring along some tried and true friends.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) People will have their eyes on you, so do nothing which may hurt your reputation as rumors may move rapidly. If you are patient, you will succeed.

Leo (July 21-Aug. 22) Stick to your routines now, and don't delve into something you know nothing about. It's true that caution may be boring, but they say a pound of prevention...

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you've been mulling over important matters, be sure you discuss your decisions with a trusted adviser before making any radical changes.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Those ol' creative juices are flowing now, so put those ideas to work where they will profit you. These actions will put you back in good graces.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Your touchy nature has set off an argument on the home front; be sure the air has cleared and people have calmed down before working things out.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't jump to any conclusions concerning that personal matter. You may want to go off and play with some old friends, so call them up now.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If someone tries to entice you into a risky financial matter, proceed with caution. Hasty actions could worsen situations you are trying to improve.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You are moving full-steam-ahead on that wonderfully secret project, so don't let anyone distract you and break your stream of creativity now!

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) You are finding the new people in your life extremely interesting; it would be wise to cultivate these relationships on personal and professional levels.

If you were born this week, you are one of those people who is most content spending time with the family and doing things for those you really care for. But when your complacent attitude is replaced by your rarely-seen temper, things can get ugly. Learn to talk about things more, thus lowering your blood pressure and raising your happiness.

The significance of the diamond

Since the turn of the century, the solitaire diamond ring has been the American engagement symbol. Even today, as many traditions are toppling, the diamond ring tradition is stronger than ever. Where did it begin and how did it evolve?

Jewelers of America, Inc. (JA), the national organization dedicated to consumer information and education about fine jewelry, offers the following historical notes about the engagement ring:

The ancient Romans were the first civilization to use finger rings as a sign of betrothal and marriage.

Solitaire rings were popular, as were bands of "opus interrasile," the Roman's technique of open-work chiselled from sheet gold (much like contemporary "filigree" designs), and rings similar to today's popular "eternity" ring with stones set all round a simple band.

However, it was not until 1477, when the Archduke Maximilian of Austria gave a diamond ring to Princess Mary of Burgundy, that the tradition of the diamond engagement ring began.

The reason a woman wears it on the third finger of her left hand is traced back to the early Egyptians who believed that the vena amoris (vein of love) ran directly from the heart to the top of the third finger, left hand.

The Greeks believed the fire in a diamond reflected the constant flame of love. The name "diamond" comes from the Greek word "adamas" meaning unconquerable. Is it any wonder that the diamond has come to symbolize the eternity of love?

This year, brides and grooms will spend over $1 billion on engagement and wedding rings. And, because the diamond engagement ring is usually the first piece of diamond jewelry a woman owns, it is important to solicit the assistance of an expert—your local jeweler—to counsel you about the qualities that should be considered when purchasing such a gift.

Diamond cuts as well as ring styles have changed throughout the years since Maximilian made his presentation to Princess Mary. Before the invention of the diamond saw in 1910, diamonds were polished to give them their shine. When the saw was used to break up the crystal, experts created optically efficient diamonds that held more brilliancy and dispersion than ever before possible.

Today, lasers enable diamonds to be cut not only as rounds, marquises, pears, ovals and rectangular shapes, but also to be fashioned into such unique designs as horse heads, stars and initials.

Styling changes have been subtle and gradual. In colonial days the engagement ring was a diamond hoop called the "keeper ring," because it was worn over the wedding band, acting as its "keeper." The next style was the cluster ring, designed like an old-fashioned bouquet with a rose (of rose-cut diamonds) in the center.

The Victorian rings were more ornate, sometimes using black enamel with gold in the diamond settings. Then came the princess ring, with three to five diamonds in a row across the finger. This was popular for many years, until the turn of the century and the introduction of the solitaire setting.

Whether you select a round or one of the "fancy" cuts, such as marquise or pear shapes, you should have your jeweler explain the importance of the "Four C's" which determine the quality of the gem—carat, color, clarity and cut:

- Carat—refers to the weight, and therefore the size, of the gem. One carat is divided into 100 points, so that a diamond of 150 points weighs 1.5 carats.

- Color—Totally colorless diamonds are very rare and represent the highest color grade. The various gradations, from exceptional white to yellowish, are barely perceptible to the untrained eye.

- Occasionally, diamonds with strong colors such as green, red, blue and amber are recovered. These "fancy color" diamonds are rare, fetching commensurate prices.

- Clarity—refers to the degree to which a diamond is free of interior blemishes or inclusions. The size and position of inclusions affect the value of a stone according to whether they interfere with the passage of light through the diamond.

- Cut—The art of cutting a diamond is so refined that a precise mathematical formula was developed. It called for most stones to be cut with 58 facets, each placed at a precise angle to one another.

How much should you spend for this gift of love that lasts forever? Consider the fact that most of your purchases depreciate in value and may not even last over the years.

A diamond, on the other hand, has lasting value.

Minimizing the feelings of pressure and anxiety for your parents' "first date"

The lifestyles of today's young couples often send them to a new city to work and distance them from their parents and friends. By the time they're ready to tie the knot, the bride's parents might be on an opposite coast from the groom's, or they may be from backgrounds so diverse that the parents would never meet if their children weren't getting married.

The first meeting between an engaged couple's parents can be tense, creating feelings of pressure and anxiety, especially if the parents have to discuss wedding details right away.

"It becomes incumbent upon the bride and groom to recognize this," according to John Touhey, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Social Psychology at Florida Atlantic University, "and to bring their in-laws together in a non-threatening and low-key way."

The emotions that arise when in-laws first meet could carry throughout a young couple's marriage. Bride's Magazine suggests these tips to make your new relatives, and your blood relatives, comfortable enough to link arms for the family photo at the wedding.

• Bridge uncomfortable ground: Find topics that both sets of parents can enter in on (such as a vacation resort, author or sports team), without allowing the wedding to be the first issue aired.

In fact, at the first meeting, the financial, religious and other specific preferences about the wedding should be avoided, as strong dissenting opinions could arise.

Make the first meeting a non-planning one, in which parents first become acquainted and relaxed with one another.

If they find they agree about the quality of the restaurant where you take them to dine, the movie or play you see, or the softball game they take part in, they will more easily agree about other issues later.

• Send good wishes long distance: Introducing parents who live far apart is also a challenge for engaged couples. Smooth the path by sharing personal insights with each set of parents — family photos, home movies, and stories highlighting families' hobbies and personalities. In this way, you set the stage: The families become likeable characters — characters that your new in-laws will be eager to meet. Suggest that your parents exchange greeting cards on holidays, as well.

• Smooth over conflicts: Encouraging a warm relationship among future in-laws can be a delicate venture. When a child becomes engaged, it's natural for parents to experience feelings that they will "lose" their child to the other family.

Be sure that neither set of parents feels neglected during the wedding planning, by consulting both for opinions, even on trivial matters.

Tradition returns

A PERFECT MATCH...with the bride and groom dressed in traditional white. Along with the return of tradition comes traditional styling: The Queen Anne neckline, bishop sleeves and, not shown, the opulent bustle. Unfasten the bows that join one atop the other down the back of the satin skirt, and the train extends to an extravagant 12 feet. Intricate hand-beaded embroidery updates a classic, designed by Michele Piccione for Alfred Angelo International, with complementing floral spray and veil from Tina Michele, a division of Alfred Angelo. Elegant in his white notch lapel tuxedo from the The Couture Collection by After Six Formal is the groom. With it he wears matching double-pleated trousers and white formal spread laydown collar shirt with white satin butterfly bow tie and cummerbund.

Something old, something new: Glittering gemstone jewelry that is to be cherished

What bride hasn't been quoted the familiar adage about wearing or carrying "something old... something new... something borrowed... something blue?" We often think of items such as mother's pearls, a blue garter, grandma's hankie and a shiny new penny in the shoe to fulfill the requirements.

Jewelers of America (JA), the national organization dedicated to informing consumers about fine jewelry, has some gems of suggestions that are as precious as newly-wedded love, and will last beyond a lifetime for the next generation to cherish.

Something old? Jewelry from the past — either genuine antique or today's reproductions of Edwardian Art Nouveau or Art Deco — creates a mood... a feeling of intense nostalgia... and a link to past generations who have loved, married, carried "something old."

Some old ideas:

- Six-strand pearl choker with delicate mother-of-pearl and marcasite clasp;
- Platinum and diamond Victorian bracelet;

- Antique pins from Art Nouveau or Art Deco period.

The bride is the jewel at her wedding and, since most couples will exchange gifts on their special day, some new ideas besides her engagement-wedding ring include:

- Exciting new designer mabe and fresh water pearl sunburst earrings and pin;
- Diamond and gold enhancer for her "borrowed" pearls;
- New strand of cultured pearls in a longer length or double strand with colored stone clasp.

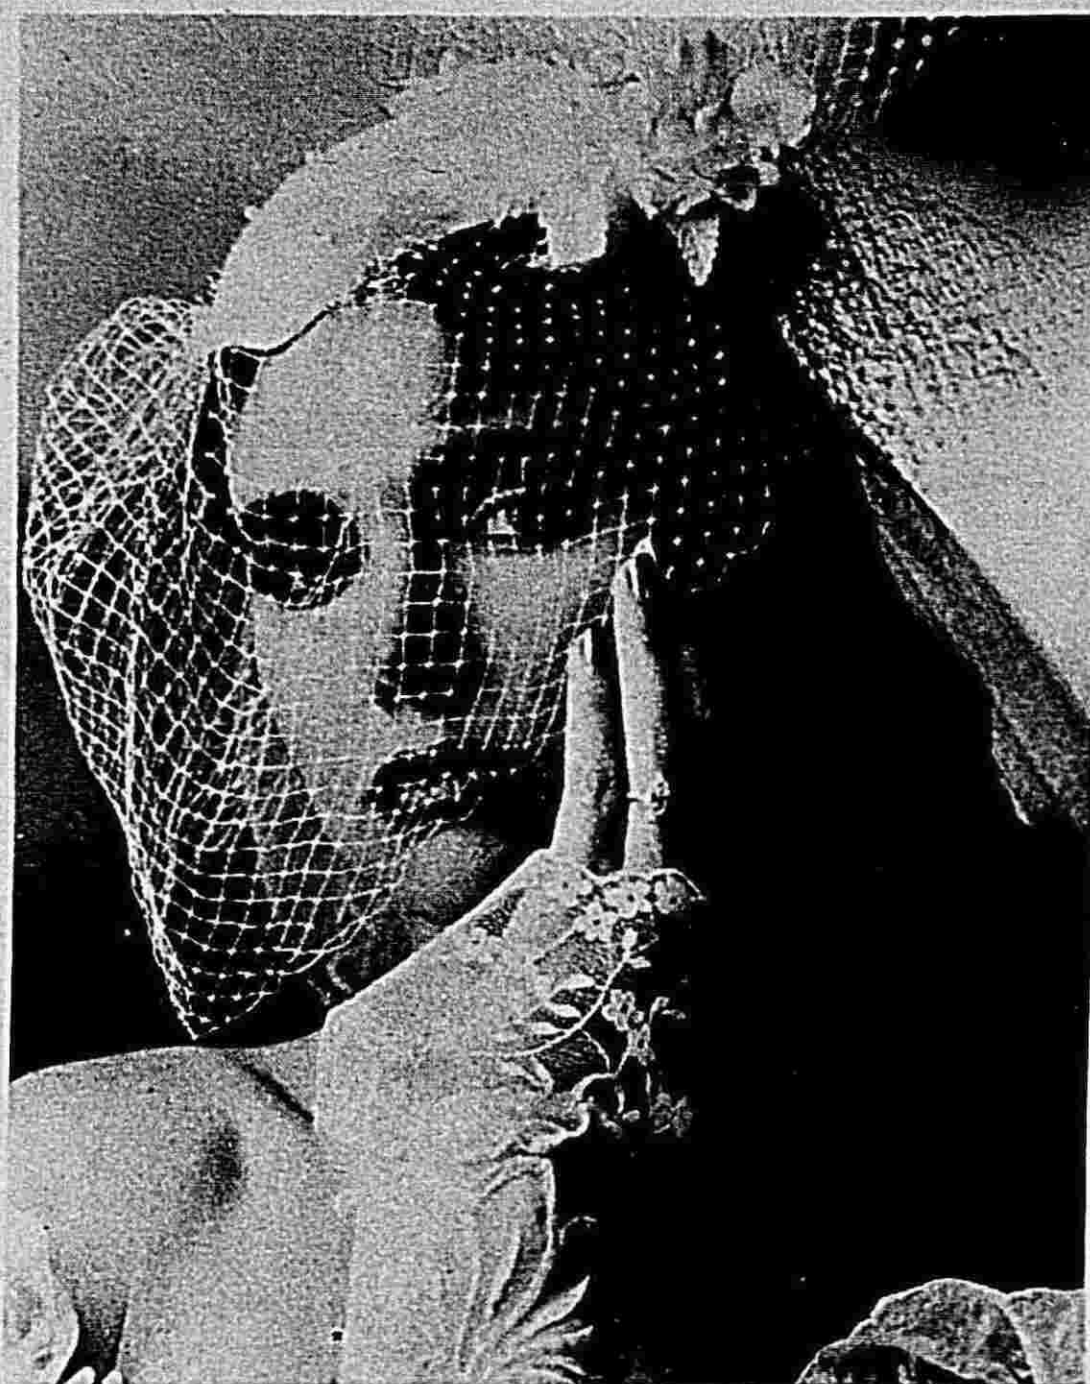

What would be more special than to borrow a treasured piece of jewelry from a mother, grandmother or special friend... perhaps she even wore it on her wedding day. For instance:

- Mom's double strand cultured pearl bracelet with diamond and ruby accents;
- Grandmother's cameo pin;
- "Special" diamond drop earrings;
- Gold locket pendant.

Blue gemstone jewelry adds a new twist to "something blue." What could look better on a bride's gown than a sparkling sapphire, aquamarine or blue topaz! These stones glisten in all sizes, shapes and cuts when fashioned into pendants, chokers, earrings, bracelets and rings (for her right hand), accented with diamonds and pearls in the newest styles.

Your local jeweler will have a wide selection of the newest and oldest styles for the perfect "something..." gift for the bride. Your professional jeweler has the knowledge to answer your questions about fine jewelry, and can guide you if you need a piece of antique jewelry cleaned, remounted or sized. Why entrust such an important purchase to a non-professional?

For more information about fine jewelry, write to Jewelers of America, Inc., Dept. MWB, 1271 Avenue of the Americas, New York, NY 10020. They will be happy to send you — free of charge — a series of brochures covering everything you wanted to know.

Overview of bridal fashions for spring/summer '88

The landscape for spring/summer '88 bridal fashion is shaping up to be purely feminine and romantic with a "less is more" approach that will substitute the ornamentation of past seasons, according to Bride's magazine.

This new clean-lined, sculpted attitude will feature details like open necklines, pleating, wasp waists and ballgown skirts. Picture a well-tended garden, carefully thought-out...controlled...always neatly groomed.

Softer colors

The pastel story that emerged last spring continues for brides and wedding attendants—only, this season, the garden palette is in full bloom. Look for whispery pinks, along with classic whites.

• Pale Floral Pastels—Delicate, barely-there pinks such as Pink Carnation, Morning Glory Blue, Buttercup, Palest Peach and Silver Mint Green are cool-looking and soft.

• Budding Brights—Irresistibly delicious hues such as Yellow Freesia, Magnolia Peach, Seafoam Green, Peony Pink, Lilac, Cornflower Blue are vibrant, yet controlled.

• Sun-Kissed Brights—High-intensity hues such as Daffodil, Marigold, Tiger Lily, Poppy, Pansy, Plum, Violet, Shamrock, Delphinium, Hydrangea make a very rich, strong statement.

• Striking Bi-Colors—High contrast color combos such as navy paired with white or beige provide a fresh, clean look.

Emphasis on textural interest

Texture is key, this coming spring. It's so important that the fabric itself becomes the story, its look and hand clearly influencing the resulting design.

Watch for last spring's move in the textural direction to really blossom.

Among the standouts: Fabric with puckers or crinkles, flocked fabric, ottoman, damask, cloqué, matelassé, brocade, jacquard, dupione, shantung, gazar, and crunchy paper silk.

Also watch for high-contrast fabrics played together—especially textures against sheers. The ultimate contrast is a textured sheer, employing texture to add newness to a traditional bridal fabric like organza.

Of sheer importance this season are organza, organdy, voile, georgette, chiffon, ribbon sheer, shadow-striped and coin-dotted sheer, placed sheer, point d'esprit, embroidered and flocked tulle, sheer with re-embroidered lace and textured cotton balise.

Additional fabric trends to note:

- Laces with added texture—such as soutache or ribbon lace used as accents—on a bodice, a skirt panel, a train;
- Toned-down metallics—always with texture;
- Three-dimensional textures;
- Texture combined with stretch—the absolute newest combo around.

More refined silhouettes
Sprouting up this season are romantic, new soft silhouettes that go hand in hand with the new softened colors and lighter fabrics.

Among the key trends are:

• The Goddess—Inspired by mythology, this classic, draped look couples simplicity with romance. Flowing lines and diaphanous fabrics reveal the figure in a tasteful way.

• The Deb or Ingenue—Feminine, with a naive but naughty sexiness, this '50s-inspired style features a wasp waist, exposed shoulders and a full skirt, complete with flirty crinolines.

Key shapes and details include:

• An appealing new softness, characterized by the cinched waist, the trapeze back, the fit and flare of the princess silhouette, elongated peplums and body-wrapping styles.

• A focus on décolletage, evidenced by off-the-shoulder looks, straplessness, sweetheart and face-framing portrait necklines, and flyaway collars.

• Gentle skirting, in the form of full skirts with sweep trains, swingy A-lines, tulips, uneven hemlines and updated sheaths with floaty, petal-shaped overskirts that reveal the body line underneath... perfect for the informal bride.

Style note: Cascades of soft tiers look fresher than ruffles for spring.

A sense of whimsy

Among the continuing trends are:

• Bows, still cropping up at the shoulder, on a bustle. They're even newer in profusion—almost woven into a neckline or hem.

• Silk flowers as adornment on dress, blooming in pale pastels against white.

Fresh approaches to watch for include:

- Fabric rosettes—saucy new touches for dresses, hair, shoes.

• Butterflies—especially for the truly adventurous—such as a sheer butterfly delicately poised upon a shoulderful of flowers.

Include insurance in wedding plans

This year more than two million couples will say "I do" and spend some $25 billion on furniture, clothes and other goods for their new life.

All those possessions need insurance coverage, and couples planning to wed should contact an insurance agent or company representative to make sure they get the coverage they need.

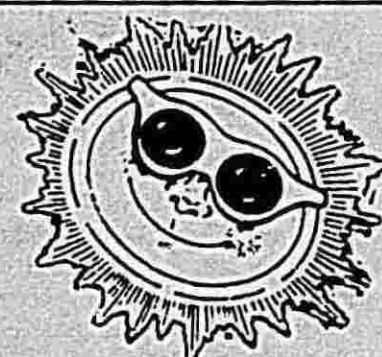

Many couples don't realize that a homeowners or tenants policy limits the dollar amount of coverage for many personal belongings, including jewelry and silver, in case of theft or some other insured peril. Jewelry and furs are usually insured to a limit of $500 or $1,000.

If your engagement ring, wedding band, watch and fur coat were stolen, for instance, you would receive $500 to $1,000 from your insurance company, but the total worth of your loss probably would be closer to $5,000.

Similarly, silverware is usually insured for $1,000 to $2,500, but with your wedding gifts you may have a collection worth a lot more than that amount.

Pointers on how to cater the reception of intimate wedding

Although big weddings are back in fashion, small nuptial celebrations are the choice of many of today's brides.

A wedding of 35 guests or less has a number of advantages, not the least of which is the ability to cater the affair yourself, or with minimal help.

In the June/July issue of Chocolatier magazine, caterer Rick Rodgers provided tips on how to cater a wedding reception. Some of Rodgers' advice includes:

- Use as many rooms in your home as possible. Don't squeeze tables, a bar and buffet into the living and dining rooms alone, or instant gridlock can occur.
- By serving foods chilled, or at room temperature, you will eliminate the need for chafing dishes and last-minute cooking.
- Set up the buffet as close to the kitchen as possible.

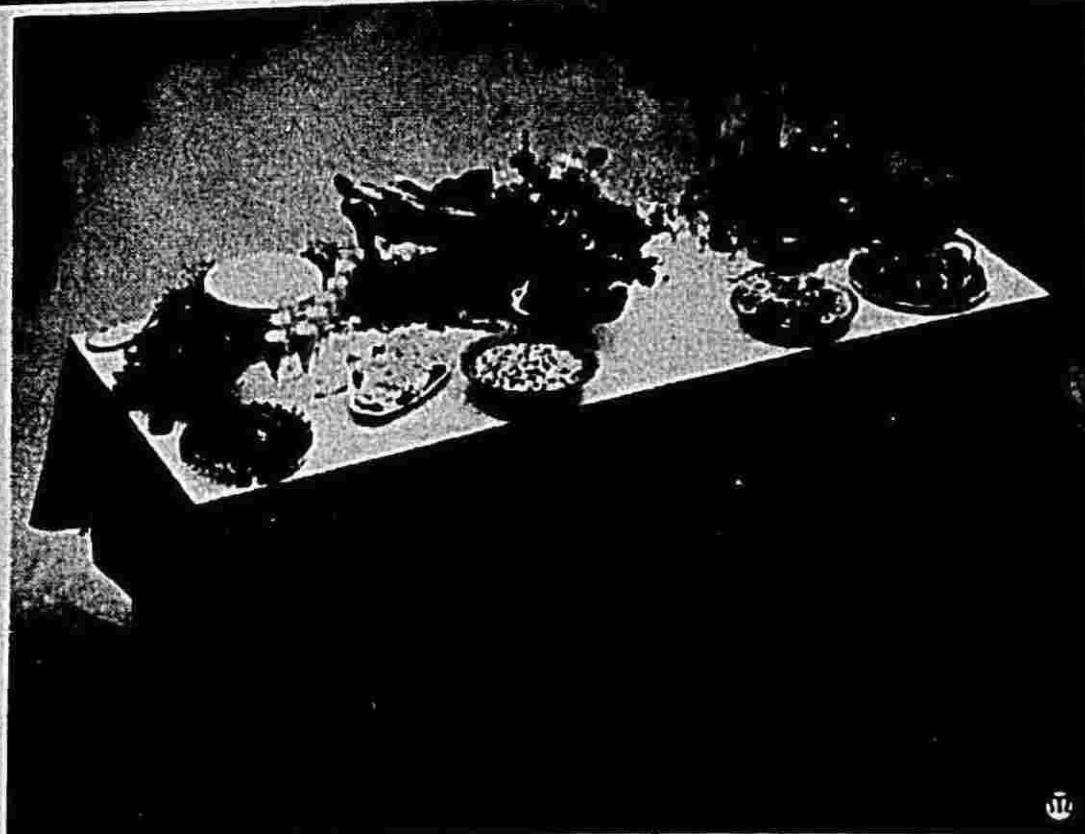

• Resist a friend's offer to help in the kitchen on the day of the wedding. Employ some professional help to serve at the party and let friends prepare dishes before the day of the affair.

• To cater your own reception and to bake your own wedding cake, however, is a tall order. Professional bakers and caterers are skilled in the elaborate techniques necessary to make your cake look like a dream come true.

If you're not a professional baker, ask a friend who is a professional baker to make your cake.

Chocolatier's wedding issue includes a number of fabulous wedding and celebration cakes with detailed step-by-step directions.

Also featured in the issue are recipes for entertaining, wonderful wedding gift ideas and great escape honeymoons.

PLAN YOUR OWN WEDDING RECEPTION with tips and recipes from Chocolatier.

Marriage in an age of divorce

The baby boom generation, unique in many ways, also claims this distinction: It is the first to have come of age at a time when one out of two marriages in this country ended in divorce — an all-time high.

Today, the children of the "Age of Divorce" are themselves of marrying age. Surprisingly, they are traditional, optimistic, and marrying in record numbers, according to a recent article in Bride's magazine.

It's no longer chic to bad-mouth marriage. Today, people speak approvingly about commitment and fidelity. Long-time singles like Joe Namath, Bruce Springsteen and Bette Midler recently tied the knot. Even nonconformist singer Madonna had a formal wedding ceremony.

Characteristic of many of the couples marrying today is their renewed sense of commitment and determination to make their marriages work, because the memory and possibility of divorce is never far away. Children of divorce are more aware of the problems of marriage, and they often try harder to avoid these problems.

Of course, some scars remain. "Divorce has colored our attitude toward marriage," says Art Carey, author of the Bride's article. "Some of us have embraced marriage too impetuously, hoping to escape our pasts by creating the kind of 'perfect' relationship our parents never had.

"Others, frightened by the fragility of marriage, and skeptical about the possibility of a lasting, happy marriage, have avoided marriage, and anything approaching it, with a vengeance."

Still, nine out of 10 young adults will marry at least once during their lifetime, predicts Andrew Cherlin, author of Marriage, Divorce, Remarriage. "People have a deep-seated need for the kind of secure, long-term, intimate relationship that marriage promises."

Finally, as a by-product of the age of divorce, marriage today has become much more flexible. The modern definition of marriage embraces not only the traditional husband/wife roles, but also marriages in which both partners work, marriages where there are no children, and marriages in which the father stays home to care for the children.

Couples today feel free to form creative partnerships, based on love and friendship, that can be molded and shaped to meet their needs.

For bridal party members, jewelry makes the wedding!

Whether it be a large formal wedding, or a simple wedding at home, jewelry plays an important role in wedding pageantry. Aside from the gold wedding rings the bride and groom exchange, members of the wedding party will be wearing jewelry as part of their apparel on this memorable day.

Of course, there's accepted protocol as to just what kind of jewelry wedding-party members will wear, declares Kae McCulloch, fashion consultant to the Jewelry Industry Council.

It is traditional that the bride wear a simple strand of pearls given her by the groom on their wedding day. This gift she wears to the altar. If the bride does wear earrings, they should be simple, matching her pearls.

Gifts for the groom

It is becoming more and more prevalent for brides to give their grooms a fine watch, which he in turn will wear during the wedding. The groom usually wears gold or pearl cufflinks and studs at a formal wedding, or tie bar, tie tac and cufflinks with less formal wear.

The bride's and groom's fathers, as well as the best man and ushers, wear gold cufflinks or tailored stone cufflinks and studs with formal wear, or gold cufflinks and tie tacs or tie bars.

The maid of honor, the bridesmaids and the mothers of the bride and groom often opt for pearl necklaces and pearl earrings for the occasion. The flower girl often wears a gold locket with a matching gold barrette.

Good taste the rule

The general rule for the wedding party members is that their jewelry be in good taste, and the women's jewelry should never be so arresting that it detracts from the bride's jewelry.

Watches worn at the wedding by both men and women should harmonize with their apparel and be classic in appearance, with gold bracelets or fine leather straps.

Jewelry is appropriately significant and properly sentimental for commemorating the special wedding day and, because of this, the bride and groom usually make it a gift of jewelry, often engraved, when they give presents to the members of their wedding party.

The maid of honor should receive a gift somewhat more important than that of the bridesmaids. It could be a pearl necklace, bracelet or earrings, a birthstone ring, or tailored stone set necklace.

The bride might give her bridesmaids a bangle bracelet, a circle pin or pendant, gold or silver charms, or pearl button or stud earrings.

The flower girl's gift can be something she can wear immediately, or reserve for her future, more mature years, such as a birthstone ring, pearl pendant, bracelet or religious jewelry.

The groom's gift to his best man can be gold, silver or stone-set cufflinks and tie tac, gold or silver money clip or cigarette lighter.

The ushers' gifts, of lesser importance, should all be identical, such as belt buckles, gold or silver key rings, pen and pencil sets, pocket knives or I.D.s.

Romantic folklore that continues to delight

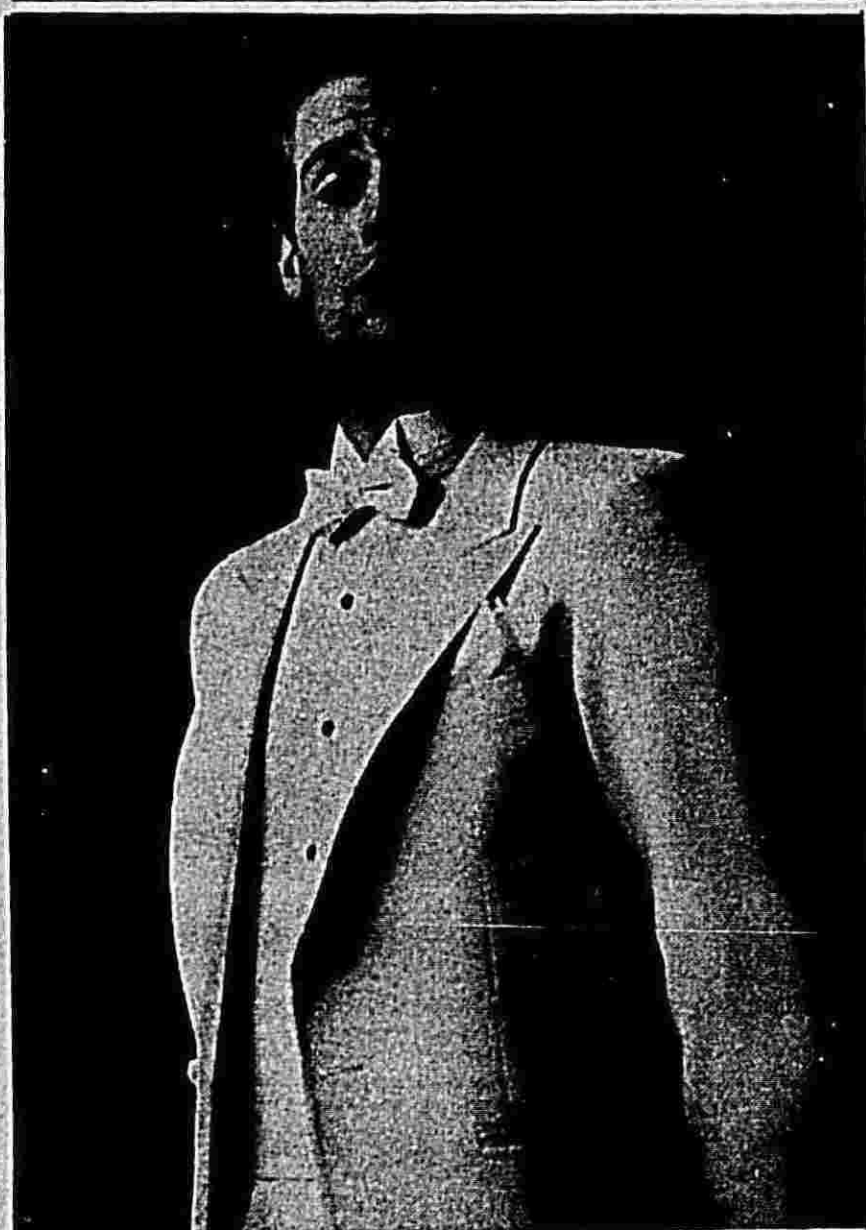

Superstition and folklore have long been associated with love and romance. In ancient times, charms, magic potions and other supernatural or magical forces frequently were employed as a way of trying to control one's destiny—especially in matters of the heart.

Love Potions: A Book of Charms and Omens (Salem House Publishers), written by Josephine Addison and illustrated by Diana Winkfield, relays to the reader a variety of ancient love potions, incantations and beliefs in a way that is at once whimsical and informative.

For instance, according to Addison, a dove, the symbol of peace and gentleness, was often given to the bridal pair as a wedding gift, with the promise of a happy life. However, it was considered very unlucky if the donor had paid money for the birds, so something else was usually offered in exchange for them.

It was also thought, explains Addison, that if the bride did not cut her wedding cake that she would remain childless.

Elegant nights

Sophisticated silhouettes in formal dressing: From the After Six Couture collection, this white tuxedo is handsomely designed with satin peaked lapels. To complete the look, there's wing collar shirt with white satin tie and cummerband.

A universal language of love

During the early 19th century, the language of love was often spoken through flowers.

Prior to the marriage vows, smitten suitors courted their sweethearts with carefully selected bouquets that conveyed thoughts like "Love at first sight" (one single thornless rose), "Will you marry me?" or the announcement of a pending marriage was represented by the combination of one red and one white long stem rose tied together with ribbon or lace.

Prenuptial and wedding flowers symbolize the beauty of marriage, and the growth of love and devotion between you and your groom. You can make your wedding day extra special by choosing blossoms that convey your love to everyone involved.

American grown roses are the perennial favorite for wedding flowers. They envelope you in fragrance, can add the purity of white or a brilliant splash of color, and help to express the beautiful sentiments you hold within.

Each rose color has a translation in "rose language" dating back to Victorian times. Many courtships began with the gift of a single rose which later led to the rose becoming a central theme in a couple's wedding plans.

Today, you can personalize your wedding by selecting roses that communicate special feelings to your groom, family members, attendants and close friends.

Matching up the rainbow of rose colors and "definitions" that will express your thoughts is one of the most delightful aspects of wedding planning. To get your thoughts on the right track, the fresh-cut rose growers of the United States and Canada provide these suggestions:

• For your groom—Everyone knows a single rose means "I love you;" nothing could make a more perfect statement.

The roses you carry in your bouquet can also send a private message to your groom: Red hybrid tea roses (the long stemmed variety) signify "I'll love you always;" coral or sonia roses denote "enthusiasm and desire." You may want to give him a boutonniere with one red and one white rose bud, to symbolize your "unity."

• For your parents—At the end of the ceremony, prior to walking down the aisle with your new partner, present your parents with a bouquet of roses in full bloom.

This colorful and sweet smelling gift expresses your gratitude and says, "Thanks for everything; we won't forget what you have done for us."

For newlyweds, their parents are a tremendous source of comfort during the hectic times before the wedding. When you feel especially grateful for their love and support, let them know.

After you arrive at the honeymoon destination, send a "thank-you" arrangement to each set of your parents. This unique arrangement should be all pink roses which convey "perfect happiness."

• For your attendants—Nothing is as important on your wedding day as being surrounded by the people who mean the most to you.

Let them know you are honored by their presence by selecting the following blooms for their bouquets: Red and yellow roses together stand for "jovial, happy feelings;" sweetheart roses stand for just what their name means, "you're a sweetheart."

Have your flower girl carry a basket of rose petals. This precious little "gem" walking down the aisle scattering the petals to and fro is spreading the news of "life aplety."

• For wedding guests—Attending a wedding is a chance for guests to celebrate their own relationships, and the enduring sacredness of a marriage commitment.

Let the roses you choose speak for everyone in attendance. Decorate the altar and reception tables with clusters of yellow roses. Lots and lots of yellow roses mean "joy and gladness."

You may also select to have a vase of roses on hand near the reception line so you and your new partner can present a "thank you" to special friends...or perhaps one for every person attending.

Available in literally dozens of different hues and bloom sizes, roses complete the wedding scenario.

Perennial favorite

For wedding flowers, American-grown roses symbolize the loving sentiments of the wedding day. Matching up the array of rose colors and sentiments can express the bride's thoughts of love.

Musical notes

Country western music lovers can dance the night away to the music of the White Saddle Band at the Sundance Saloon on Rte. 176 in Mundelein, on Friday and Saturday.

Janina Fialkowska, a pianist of great strength, prodigious technique, beautiful tone, and above all, "temperament," will be bringing excitement to every musical note she plays at the Woodstock Opera House on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 22 and 23, at 8 p.m. with a matinee performance at 2 p.m., on Sunday, Jan. 24.

A short trip to Evanston should be on any area chamber music lover's itinerary when the Chicago Chamber Musicians will open their season with "A Schubertiad," at 7:30 p.m., on Sunday, Jan. 17, at the Pick-Straiger Concert Hall on Sheridan Rd. The music will be that of Schubert, including the "Trout Quartet."

The David Adler Cultural Center in Libertyville will be celebrating its birthday with a folk concert and barn dance held at the Libertyville American Legion Hall on Milwaukee Ave., at 7:30 p.m., on Saturday, Jan. 16. Folk performers will be Jim Craig and Art Thieme.

A concert for children, featuring City Strings, playing classics and Hispanic, African and Appalachian selections, will see the well-known quartet performing at the Libertyville High School, at 2 p.m., on Sunday, Jan. 17. Tickets are $4. For information, call (312)367-0707.

On stage

Hurry to get tickets for what may be a once in a lifetime "dance" experience when the legionary Rudolph Nureyev, along with many members of the Paris Opera Ballet, will do two performances at the Chicago Theater, at 8 p.m., on Saturday, Jan. 23 and 3 p.m., on Sunday, Jan. 24. The program will include Ballanchine choreography of the works of Tchaikovsky, Stravinsky, etc.

Speaking of ballet greats, artistic director Mikhail Baryshnikov will lead the American Ballet Theatre's appearance at the Auditorium Theater in Chicago. The ballet company's repertoire for this appearance will include "Giselle" and "Sleeping Beauty."

Still packin' them in at Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre is the classic "My Fair Lady."

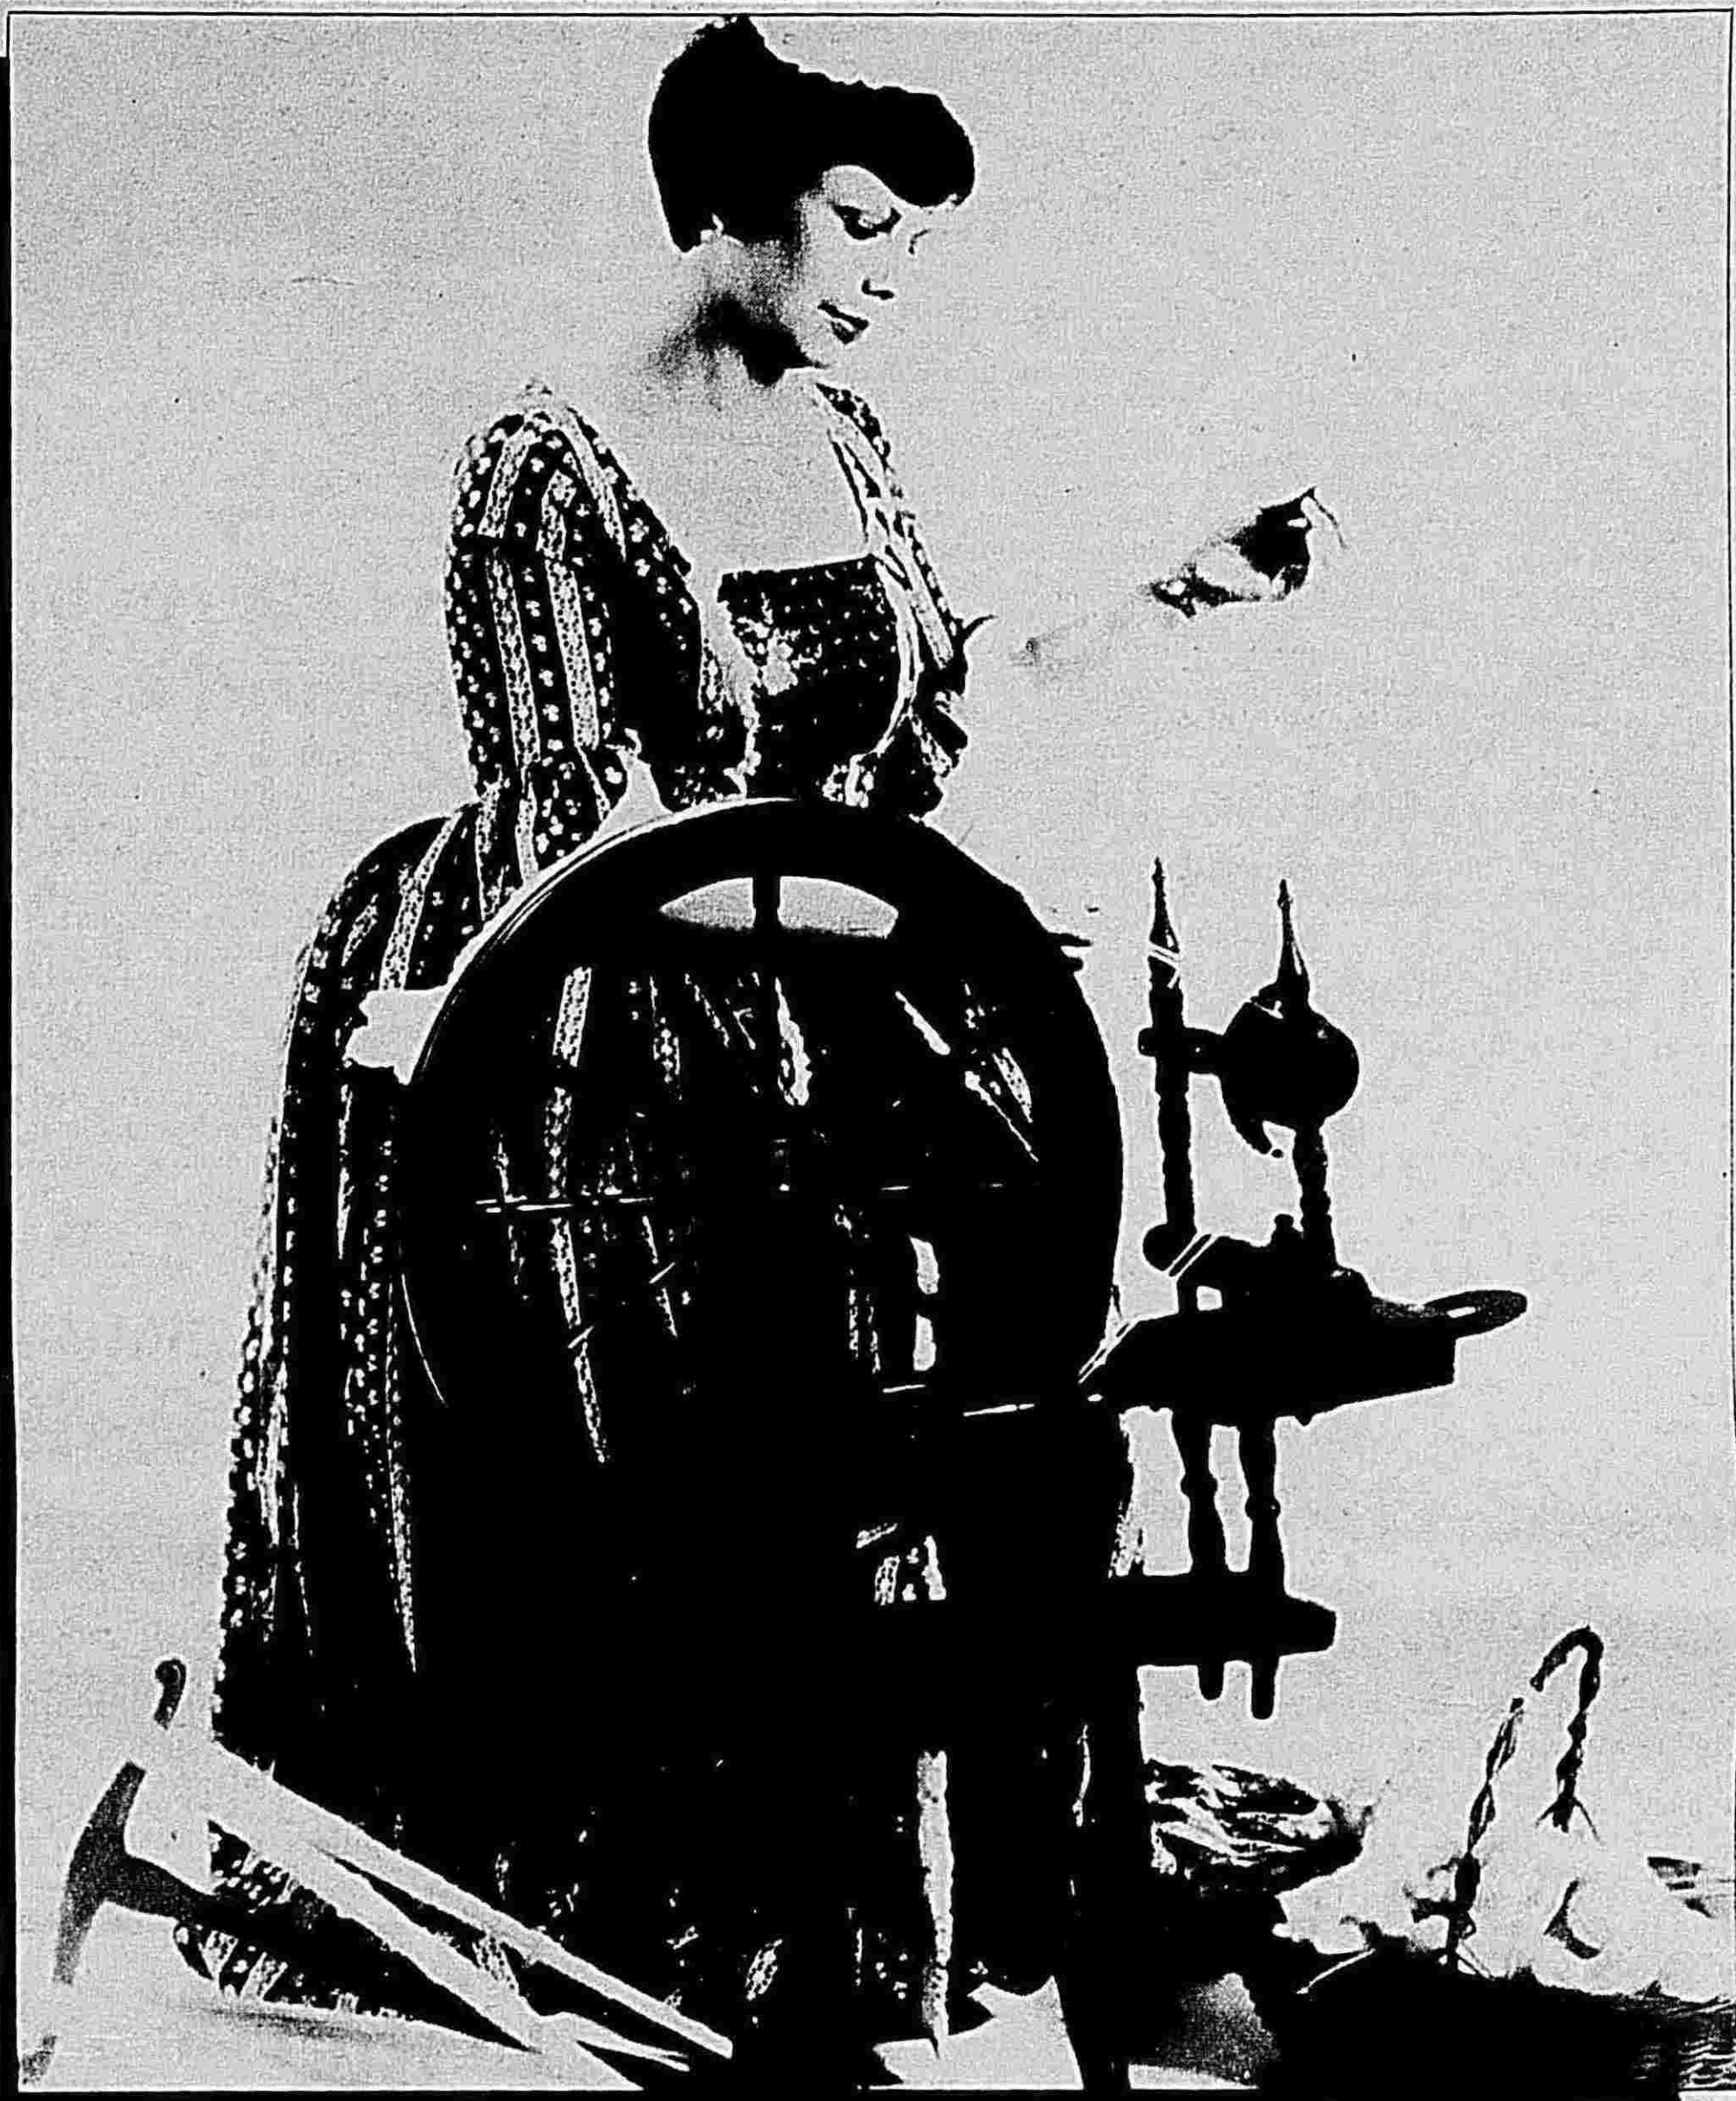

"Mary, Mary" will be in its second week at Andre's Dinner Theatre, Richmond. This is the premier production for the dinner theater's new repertoire company, Rosebud Productions.

Be there!

On Thursday, Jan. 21, the Woodstock Fine Arts Assn. will present its 24th annual Creative Living Series with Buddy and Gloria Melges. Buddy Melges, the skipper of the "Heart of America," winner of the Americas Cup, has been called "The American Crocodile Dundee." The program will begin at 10 a.m. with coffee and conversation at 9 a.m. Tickets at the door on the day of performance are $6 and $10.

A Natural History Film Festival will be held at the Volo Bog State Natural Area, at 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., on Saturday, Jan. 23.

Calling all gun fanciers, the Lake County Gun Collectors show will be at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., on Sunday, Jan. 17.

Folk Art Faire to sample Americana

From Jan. 29-31, a Country Folk Art Faire will be featured at Hawthorn Center. Each year, faire attracts thousands of visitors interested in many handmade items to be displayed.

Artisans dressed in period costumes will demonstrate basket weaving, sculpting doll clothes, molding tin, salt glazed pottery and many more of heritage arts.

Mall to show folk art forms with fair

A colorful potpourri of folk art will be on display at the Country Folk Art Faire, on the mall, Jan. 29-31 at Hawthorn Center. Browse and shop a showcase of America's heritage, recreated by over 125 artisans from 11 states.

The Country Folk Art Faire attracts thousands each year because of the quality of the handmade items it offers. Collectors and decorators will be quick to agree that these are wonderful items to use in decorating a charming country setting as well as compliment authentic antique furnishings.

Watch talented artisans, dressed in period costumes, demonstrate the art of quilting, basketweaving, sculpting cloth dolls, molding tin, salt glazed pottery and much more.

Special demonstrations will be given by the National Guild of Pearl K. McGowan Hookcrafters, the Thistle Down Spinning and Weaving Guild, North Suburban Embroider's Guild, Windy Brushes of Northern Illinois and Smack Smockers Guild.

All this and more will be waiting at Hawthorn Center on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 29-31. It's an entertaining and educational event and yet is a source for distinctive appointments to the home and office.

Hawthorn Center is located on Town Line Rd. (Rte. 60) and Milwaukee Ave. (Rte. 21) in the Village of Vernon Hills, just one-half mile south of Libertyville. Show hours are Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Menotti's one-act opera coming to Libertyville

"Amahl and the Night Visitors," a one-act opera by Gian Carlo Menotti, will be presented at the First Presbyterian Church of Libertyville on Saturday, Jan. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

The performance will feature an orchestra comprised of professional musicians from the greater Chicago area under the direction of Paul McKenzie and a talented cast of actors and vocalists from the First Presbyterian Church directed by Sue Gehrke.

Tickets for each event will be available at the door at $5 for adults and $3 for children. Friend, patron and sponsor subscriptions to the series are also available.

The First Presbyterian Church is located at the corner of Maple and Douglas Aves. in Libertyville, two blocks west of Rte. 21 (Milwaukee Ave.) and one block north of Rte. 176.

For additional information, call the church office at (312)362-2174.

Santa's Village fairyland but lonely during winter

For nearly 30 years, The Three Worlds of Santa's Village has been a summer outing tradition for thousands of Chicago families. Each new season brings excited visitors by the carload ready to enjoy the tastes, sights and thrills of the amusement park experience.

As the season passes on to fall and winter, the park is quietly tucked in to a more peaceful state. It is only a lucky few who get to see the beauty of the village during these winter months.

There are about 20 full-time employees, or elves for a believer, on staff year-round. This figure swells to 300 in the summertime, making it the area's largest employer.

If one ventures into the park at this time of year, when the snow has appropriately fallen at the "Northpole," they would find it a still and silent place. The once-crowded footpaths of other times offer only a passing squirrel or deer or racoon tracks to an observing eye.

Most of the outside work has long been completed by now, and the energies of workers have turned to the inside. There are still many things necessary to run the Polar Dome Ice Arena.

The arena is the largest rink in the area and will be celebrating its 25th anniversary in February. The Dome is centered in the middle of the park and houses an 85 foot by 180 foot ice surface.

Other facilities include a snack bar, video arcade, pro shop and the Alpine Room Restaurant and Lounge. It is open to the public on Friday nights from 8:30 to 10 p.m. and Sunday afternoon 1:30 to 4 p.m. For more information on winter and summer activities, call (312) 426-6751.

Frosty popcorn

This is best time to get popcorn and sno-cones at Santa's Village in Dundee because lines in front are short. Usual crowded kiddyland is lonely but beautiful place during winter months.

Trip to 'Crocodile Dundee's' homeland is on CLC agenda

Anyone interested in a trip "down under" to the land of kangaroos, koala bears, and Crocodile Dundee can find out about the College of Lake County's 17-day summer study tour in Australia and New Zealand by attending an information session on Thursday, Jan. 21 at 7 p.m.

Co-sponsored by CLC and Harper College, the study tour (June 16-July 2) will offer a diversity of climates and locales, from tropical beaches and lush rain forests to snow-covered peaks, fjords, and world-class cities.

Featured stops include the Great Barrier Reef, the Snowy Mountains, Mount Cook, Milford Sound, Brisbane, Melbourne, Sidney, Cairns, Queenstown, and Christchurch.

The tour cost of $2,998 covers all transportation from Chicago, guided tours and informal discussions, first class hotels, breakfasts, and most evening meals.

The tour is open to all community members and up to three credits in humanities 124 may be earned.

More information and tour brochures are available from Ken Simonsen, CLC humanities instructor and tour escort, by calling (312) 223-6601 ext. 554 or 550.

Museum to fete libraries

The Lake County Museum has a new temporary exhibit on loan from the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service entitled "Carnegie's Libraries."

The exhibit will be up for viewing through Jan. 24.

The exhibit was made possible through a grant from the Lake County Arts Council and a contribution from the museum's support group, the Lake County Museum Assn.

The Lake County Museum is located on Rte. 176 in the Lakewood Forest Preserve, seven and one half miles west of Mundelein. The museum is open daily from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Adler hires Porth

The David Adler Cultural Center is proud to announce the addition of Alan Porth to its teaching staff. He will be giving private instruction in saxophone, flute, clarinet and piccolo.

Porth, who holds a degree in music education from Roosevelt University, is a professional musician with extensive experience in the recording studio, the theatre orchestra, and club, concert and dance bands.

A sampling of his credits include: the Schubert Theatre's production of "Cats!"; David Merrick's production of "42nd Street" for the Schubert Theatre and the Civic Opera; orchestra's for Liza Minelli and Johnny Mathis and literally thousands of radio and television commercials.

The David Adler Cultural Center is accepting students for Porth on all levels, from Basic Technique to Advanced Jazz Improvisation.

For information call (312) 367-0707.

Smockers to meet

Smack Smockers, the north suburban chapter of the Smocking Arts Guild of America (SAGA), will have a meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 26 at 7 p.m. at the Fremont Library, 470 N. Lake St., Mundelein.

Members meet on the fourth Tuesday of each month, September through November, and January through June, to share an interest in smocking and related needle arts by exchanging ideas and conducting demonstrations and workshops.

All interested smockers are welcome to attend. For further information, contact Priscilla Maves, president, at (312) 398-2366 or Rita Fenters, secretary, at (312) 356-1902.

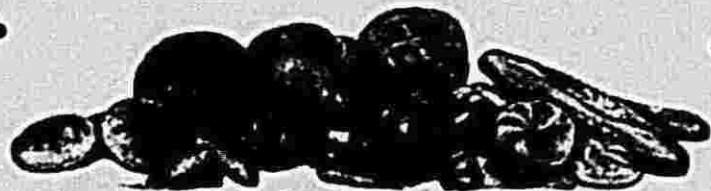

YWCA has facilities

Need a conference room for meetings, events, banquets or workshops? The YWCA of Lake County has facilities for these. Gymnasium space is also available for daytime activities 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information, call Vic at (312) 662-8670.

Toboggan slide is operating

Steitz's Resort began its 50th year of tobogganing this month. Operating since 1938, the toboggan slide at the resort on Bluff Lake has provided hours of fun for many schools, church groups, families and just about anyone who enjoys fun in the outdoors.

A wood chute located 47 feet above the lake is controlled by an operator who releases sleds at speeds up to 40 miles per hour.

Hours of operation are 6 p.m. to midnight on Fridays, noon to midnight on Saturdays, and noon to 9 p.m. on Sundays. For further information, call (312)395-4050.

Rock Tracks

The new Aerosmith Scrapbook video (tapes in the attic, if you will), is 54 minutes of magical moments designed to delight fans of one of the world's premier rock bands. It documents the band's career which began on record with the release of the self-titled album Aerosmith, and featured the anthemic "Dream On." They followed with a collection of multi-platinum albums: Get Your Wings, Toys In The Attic, Rocks, Draw The Line, Bootleg, Night In The Ruts, Greatest Hits, Rock In A Hard Place, Done With Mirrors, Classics Live I, Classics Live II and their current LP Permanent Vacation. Not only was Aerosmith at the top of rock music throughout the 70's, they set down a brand of music which has been emulated by most of the 80's hard rock bands.

Scrapbook features clips from Aerosmith's legendary live performances: Silverdome, Pontiac, MI (1976); Cal Jam 2, Ontario Motor Speedway, CA (1978); Capital Center, Largo, MD (1978); and The Texas Jam, Cotton Bowl, TX (1987). A scrapbook, however, is not complete without special reminders of great times past. Aerosmith has personally contributed to these reminders by including their own home movies to make this Scrapbook more than just concert footage.

It is to their loyal fans that Aerosmith is most thankful — their followers — who have supported many great moments, contributed to their 20 million album sales, and attended over 1,000 concerts. For those of you who have not grown up listening to their music and are only familiar with Permanent Vacation, the Scrapbook video will provide you with a personal insight into the extraordinary and exciting history of one of the most compelling bands in rock 'n roll past, present and future.

Church schedules new home films by Dr. James Dobson

"Turn Your Heart Toward Home," a six-part film series by Dr. James Dobson, will be presented at the First Presbyterian Church of Libertyville beginning Sunday, Jan. 17 and running through Sunday, Feb. 21.

Each film in the series will be shown in the church social hall during the Sunday School hour, 10:10 to 10:50 a.m., and will be repeated in a special screening beginning at 7 p.m. in the chapel.

The series is being presented free of charge, with child care available at both sessions. Dr. Dobson, a noted psychologist and lecturer, needs little introduction, as his many books and films have already touched the lives of millions.

In "Turn Your Heart

Toward Home," Dr. Dobson and his wife Shirley analyze the problems facing parents today and present their keen insights into raising healthy well-adjusted children.

Titles in the series include "A Father Looks Back," "Power in Parenting: The Young Child," "Overcoming a Painful Childhood," and "The Heritage." The public is invited to attend and view each of these important films.

The First Presbyterian Church is located at the corner of Maple and Douglas Aves. in Libertyville, and is wheelchair accessible. Shuttle bus service is available for overflow parking at both the Burnett-Dane Funeral Home on Park Ave. and Dr. John Wollney's office, 109 W. Maple, each Sunday morning.

For more information, phone the church office at (312)362-2174.

Six Flag auditions set to go in February

The 1988 audition dates have been set for performers in Six Flags Great America's exciting line-up of entertainment for the park's 13th big season.

Auditions for singers and dancers in the Grand Music Hall production will be conducted on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 19 and 20.

Dancers will be auditioned beginning at 10 a.m. each day, with singers beginning at 1 p.m.

Dancers will be given a combination of dance steps by a Six Flags choreographer. Singers must bring music in their key. A pianist will be provided for accompaniment. Taped accompaniment will not be permitted.

Dancers only will be auditioned for Adelines.

The Riverport Sweet Adelines are offering participation in their rehearsals for four weeks. Those interested may attend rehearsals from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on all Mondays in January at the Salem Grade School on Hwy. 83, seven miles north of Antioch.

the Theatre Royale production on Thursday, Feb. 18 at 6 p.m.

Auditions will be conducted at the park and are open to performers age 16 or older. Performers should enter through the park's Grand Ave. main entrance and proceed to the Grand Music Hall. Registration begins one hour prior to call time.

Variety acts and musical groups will be auditioned on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 27 and 28, at the Gurnee Holiday Inn, Grand Ave. and I-94. Audition reservations are required for these dates.

For additional information and audition reservations, call the Show Audition Information Line at (312)249-1776, ext. 4650.

Six Flags Great America opens for its 13th season of family fun with an exciting new roller coaster and a dazzling entertainment package on Saturday, April 30.

'Fiddler on the Roof' opens in Zion on Jan. 28

"Fiddler on the Roof" is scheduled for six performances at the Christian Arts Auditorium, Christian Catholic Church, Dowie Memorial Dr., Zion.

Performances will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28 through 30, and Feb. 4 through 6.

Ticket donation is $7 for all seats, with group rates available. Advance purchase is recommended; call (312) 472-4883.

The popular show features an auditioned cast under the direction of Pat Jamison, who has appeared in more than 50 musicals, and has professional credits from Hollywood to Broadway. She has assembled talent from throughout Lake County, with Frank DiNato as the irrepressible Teyve. "Frank is perfect as Teyve, with a big voice and a winsome manner," said Jamison.

The Zion Chamber Orchestra, under the musical direction of Timothy Allen, is responsible for the production of the show, as part of its 10th Anniversary season.

"The orchestra couldn't have picked a better showcase for the talents of the community," said Jamison. "You will be delighted at the costuming, and the sets, which feature, among other things, the most darling milk cow you've ever seen!"

"Fiddler on the Roof" is based on a Sholem Aleichem story which is used by special permission of Arnold Perl. The book is by Joseph Stein, music by Jerry Bock, and lyrics by Sheldon Harnick. It was produced on the New York stage by Harold Prince.

Opening to benefit Lambs

The Embassy Suites Hotel in Deerfield is hosting an "escape to paradise" benefit to celebrate its grand opening on Thursday evening, Feb. 4. Proceeds from the "Evening Under the Stars" will directly benefit the Lambs in Libertyville.

For one night, the Embassy Suites Hotel-Deerfield will be transformed into a cruise ship where passengers will enjoy tropical drinks, a Caribbean-style dinner and authentic Island entertainment.

Guests can win escapes to exotic ports of call.

The Embassy Suites Hotel is located at 1455 Lake Cook Rd. in Deerfield. The benefit is black-tie optional, and reservations are limited. For information about "Evening Under the Stars," contact The Lambs at (312) 362-4536. The Lambs is a non-profit residential and vocational community for mentally retarded adults.

In 'Mary, Mary'

Dena Fabry, Heather Ridge, right, as Mary, consoles her frustrated ex-husband Bob, played by Harvey Bartlett, Woodstock, in Rosebud Productions' version of 'Mary, Mary,' now playing at Andres Dinner Theatre in Richmond. The show will be playing weekends in January. For reservations and information, call (815) 678-2571.

To show area artists' paintings

An alumni exhibit of the work of seven Barat College studio art majors will open Jan. 28 with a reception from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Reicher Gallery, Sheridan and Westleigh Rds., Lake Forest. The show will run through Feb. 20.

Presenting their work will be Jan Gallimore Smith, a 1981 Barat graduate from Antioch; Sue Gertz, 1980 of Mettawa; Lisa Mohrlein, 1985 of Skokie; Lisa Elbright, 1976; Maritess Oldenburg, 1981; Deborah Pieritz, 1974; and Terry Kelly, 1975 of Greenwich, Conn.

The Reicher Gallery is open Monday through Saturday from noon to 4 p.m. For more information call gallery director Sharon Wells Booko, (312) 234-3000.

WKRS hosts ski school

Radio station WKRS-AM 1220 is hosting a ski school at Holiday Park on Thursday, Jan. 21. Beginning at 4 p.m., the ski instructors at Holiday Park will teach the fine art of skiing. Sailing, power boaters learn basic boating skills

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary will offer boating safety courses for both power and sail boaters and a basic coastal navigation course.

The class for power boaters will teach the basic skills required for boating safety such as: rules of the road on water, docking procedures, correct way to trailer and launch a boat and all legal requirements. The class will start Tuesday, Jan.

26 and last 13 lessons. A fee of $13 for text and workbook will be charged.

The Sail Boat Safety Class is a 13-lesson course designed to teach the basic boating skills required for safe handling of a sailboat. The class will cover basic sailing, boating maneuvers, correct procedures to launch and trailer a boat, and all safety equipment required by the Coast Guard.

The class will start Tuesday, Jan. 26 and a fee of $13 for text and workbook will be charged.

The Coastal Navigation course will cover the use of Rader and Loren C, along with the basic

"how-to's." It will begin Wednesday, Jan. 27. A fee of $15 will be charged.

All classes will be held at the Rose Park Field House, 530 Williams St., Palatine. For more information or to register, call (312) 537-6603.

Lambs receives grant for Learning & Recreational

Lambs Farm, a private non-profit residential and vocational community in Libertyville for mentally retarded adults, has become the recipient of a $75,000 challenge grant by The Kresge Foundation of Troy, Mich.

The terms of the grant stipulate that The Lambs raise the remaining funds needed for the proposed Learning and Recreational Facility by May 1. The Lambs embarked on this capital campaign in 1986, and has raised over 75 percent of the necessary funds.

The Kresge Foundation is an independent, private foundation created by Sebastian S. Kresge and is not affiliated with any corporation or organization.

The Kresge Foundation awards grants for projects involving construction or renovation of facilities and for the purchase of major capital equipment or real estate.

The Lambs plans to construct a centralized facility to conduct instructional and recreational activities for its mentally retarded men and women.

Since The Lambs receives less than 14 percent of its funding from government sources, support from foundations, corporations and individuals is vital. Groundbreaking for the Recreation and Learning Center is scheduled for May.

Dante's inferno, no just friendly, yes

by IRIS MAYFIELD

A hot cup of home-made Swedish glug, before the fireplace, after snowmobiling or whatever, sounds like home, but its Dante's Restaurant in Antioch.

Mauvise Orsolini, owner, chef, and all-around good-gal, boasts of the Italian specialties and giant steaks, a 48 and 32 ounce New York strip, along with their seafood offerings and everynight specialties, which top off Dante's menu.

Mauvise says, "We specialize in value for your dollar," adding, "almost everyone leaves with a doggie bag."

Dante's has been at 25385 W. Rte. 173, in Antioch for one-and-one-half years and is just west of Rte. 59.

Mauvise says she concentrates on a lunch and dinner menu with 99-cent pasta lunches. Boasting about, "Everything is home made, soups, salad dressings," and "we have a Door County fishboil on Friday nights and prime rib Saturday and Sunday" completes the menu.

For dessert, Mauvise suggests Italian ice, spumoni or any other of her home made desserts.

To quench your thirst, after snowmobiling or whatever, Dante's bar features giant margaritas, strawberry daiquiris, flaming dessert drinks, along with the drink of your choice.

Mauvise says, "It's a family restaurant and children are welcome," adding "We have game machines and serve pizza."

Mauvise touts the friendliness of her restaurant and says, "You can feel comfortable by yourself or with a group." Hours are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Wednesday through Monday, closed Wednesdays.

Academy for the Arts is offering scholarships

The Chicago Academy for the Arts would like all of the Chicago area's talented high school students to be aware of its 1988 scholarship competition to be held on Jan. 30.

The academy is offering a full one-year tuition in each discipline of art, dance, music and theatre for the 1988-89 academic year. Auditions will be at the school, 718 W. Adams St., starting at 8 a.m. Interested students can call (312) 454-9577 for details.

The Chicago Academy for the Arts is Chicago's only high school offering serious training in visual and performing arts. Majors offered are art, music, dance and theatre. It is also required that each student take a full college preparatory curriculum.

The talent developed at the Academy is coming on strong. Last year, art major Michael Ferris was honored in Washington, D.C. as a Presidential Scholar. Senior Lara Boyle is currently working on a tv pilot in Los Angeles, and last year she was in the ABC mini-series "Amerika."

Antoine Roshell, a junior, was seen coast-to-coast on NBC in "The Father Clements Story." Another current student, Lisa Kelly, and teacher Dick Sollenberger have been on "Sable."

Anthony Russell, a junior, was in this year's "Christmas Carol" at the Goodman Theatre. Jose Aiello, an alumni, sang five tracks on "Starlight Express" cast album and is coming out with her first solo LP, produced by Phil Ramone.

CBS Records is courting the Academy's resident rock-jazz group, which includes two of Ramsey Lewis' sons. And many more students are involved in commercials and industrials that are taped in Chicago.

Wilmot girls win

The Lady Panthers took a lopsided game from the Union Grove Broncos, winning 60-19. Leading Panther scorer was Deana Sexson with 20 points.

It's down and 'dirty' for Hobbytown Raceways' events

by IRIS MAYFIELD

All the planning, struggling and saving to open a new business, and then a truck comes and dumps 70 tons of dirt in the middle of your new floor?

Dry your tears. HobbyTown Raceway, 219 N. Cedar Lake Rd. planned it that way. In fact, without all that dirt, they wouldn't be in business, says co-owner Luke Herring.

The 280-foot track with 80-foot-long straightaways, last Sunday, had 85 radio-controlled cars in competitive racing.

Herring, along with co-owner Bruce Cicero, opened the track about four months ago. Herring says, "It's one of the biggest indoor dirt tracks in the Midwest." Herring says the track isn't actually dirt, but a sand and clay mixture, called baseball fill.

According to Herring, they stock cars and accessories used on the track. They sell the two-wheel drive stock and modified, as well as four-wheel drive stock and modified RC's. Herring added that they also have one truck class.

He says most are Japanese manufactured cars, such as Kyosho and Mauri. "There's a good American made car from Associated Electric, they make the famous RC10, the fastest two-wheel drive car," he says.

Hobbytown Raceway is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, 2 to 8 p.m. On Fridays and Sundays they have scheduled racing. Friday open racing stops at five p.m. when the track is rolled and watered for the 7 p.m. races.

Sunday, doors open at 9 a.m., entries close at 10 a.m., and the races go on until through, Herring says. They are closed on Wednesdays.

Cold weather brings fire danger

Illinois State Fire Marshal Tom Bestudik warns drivers against breaking the law by filling gas tanks while the motor is running.

"A horrible fire or explosion is just waiting to happen," Bestudik said, "but enforcement, observation and recognition of state law would prevent it."

The law prohibits a motorist from filling his gas tank—or having it filled—while the motor is running. Failure to enforce this law also would endanger the state permit of the self-service gasoline station involved.

The law also requires that "recreational and similar vehicles, or any vehicle designed to contain equipment or appliances utilizing pilot lights or similar devices shall be shut off before servicing the vehicle."

All service station have signs posted that instruct the motorist to stop the engine, don't smoke and don't use an unapproved container.

Hotel phone calls-- a costly expense

by JIM WARNKEN

President, North Star Travel

Anyone who has made a phone call from a hotel room overseas has learned of the enormous surcharges added by most European hotels. Guess what? This practice is catching up in the good old U.S.A.

Long distance calls can cost you up to 40 percent more if you use the phone in your hotel room. You say you always use your AT&T credit card for those calls? Some hotels will still add a service job.

Local calls are another source of added expense to your hotel bill. Rates for these can be three times as high as if you used the phone in the lobby. Rates run anywhere from 50 cents to $1 for the first few minutes with additional charges for time used after that.

In some cases you may find yourself charged for calls you didn't even complete. Let a phone ring for more than 45 seconds from some hotels and you will pay the same as if the call actually had gone through.

What can you do to avoid excessive phone costs from eating into your vacation budget?

Make calls from the lobby phone. This may be inconvenient, but if you are going to be calling all over town for a dinner reservation, the savings could make it worth the trouble. If you are using a charge card for long distance calls, you'll save substantially without the hotel surcharge to contend with.

The rates for local calls and surcharge for long distance calls must be posted in your room, usually right on the phone itself. If you don't understand them, call the desk and ask. You won't be the first. Then decide if it's worth the added expense. Otherwise, you'll probably meet me by the phones in the lobby!

FOOT SURGERY FOR SENIORS

Foot surgery can help older persons keep active and independent.

If you are a senior citizen who is having podiatric problems, age alone is no reason for automatically ruling out surgical treatment. In a consultation, various aspects of the problem and alternative treatments will be discussed. Consider:

1. Does the expected outcome justify undergoing the surgery?
2. Healing may take a little longer, especially if you have impaired circulation or less-than-ideal nutritional levels.
3. Most elderly persons recover better when they are able to get back on their feet and remain active. In-office procedures usually allow a faster return to mobility.

Your podiatrist will be able to give you a clear picture of what will be involved, and will help you decide whether or not you are a good candidate for foot surgery.

Morris eyes seat on Board - Action Project receives grant

Gene Morris is fed up with the County Board and the way its members are doing their jobs, so he plans on doing something about that. Gene Morris will be running as a democrat for County Board Dist. 4 which covers Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant and Avon Twps.

Morris is a family man of four and feels that nothing ever seems to get done for the people. He feels that County Board Chairman Jim Fields is too involved with the politics and ignores the real issues that the people are faced with. "It's important to do your job as an individual instead of doing nothing but politicking while you're in there," said Morris in reference to Fields.

Morris has been questioned on many occasions as to why he wants to become a member of the board. "I've been told, 'Gene, why do you want to go into something like this without being a crook', well, it's because I believe that you can do your job honestly these days," Morris said about his intent.

"I look at the records of people such as Fields and Fred Popp (d-board member) and I would've thought they would have done better," said Morris.

Morris says that he is strongly against all the politicking that takes place and states that his main concern is the people saying, "once you get in, the politics should be left behind and you should go at the meat of the problem."

One of the problems that Morris would like to see addressed is the increase in crime around the Lake County region. He would like to see more community crime watch programs go into action. "I think the Sheriff is a good man, he does a fine job, but we need some funding for these programs to combat crime," Morris said.

"I also feel that the people with county building and zoning need some assistance. Bob Striker takes all the burden on his shoulders," he added.

Morris suggested having meetings for the general public so that they can have a voice and express their wants and needs. "You have to look at the source of the problem and go after it," he said, adding that, "You have to use a guide to make sure that you stay in a straight line and to do that sometimes you have to say no, and this hasn't been done."

Morris also feels that it is important that a control of the land is kept so that building is kept down.

"People in the past have wanted help, but just haven't been able to get it. You have to help them," said Morris.

Coalition urges join disabled

The Lake County Chapter of The Coalition of Citizens with Disabilities in Illinois will meet Monday, Feb. 1. The meeting will be held at 3441 Sheridan Rd., Zion.

The Coalition is an organization that involves individuals, organizations and professionals representing all disability groups. Meetings are held the first Monday of each month to deal with the issues that affect everyone with disabilities in Lake County.

For more information call Cindy Ciancio at (312) 546-9593.

Gov. James R. Thompson has announced that nearly $1.8 million in federal Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) funding has been awarded to 37 organizations throughout the state to assist the homeless in Illinois.

Awarded through the U.S. Dept. of Health and Human Services Emergency Community Services Homeless Grant Program, the grants are administered by the Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) and fund local activities undertaken by the state's 36 Community Action Agencies and the Illinois Migrant Council.

In Lake County, the Lake County Community Action Project (CAP) was awarded $31,312.

"With winter upon us, the homeless in Illinois face a daily crisis, trying to find shelter and food," Thompson said. "This will help provide shelter for the homeless and that can sharply reduce the problem of homelessness in Illinois."

Jay R. Hedges, DCCA Director, said the funds will be used to expand comprehensive services to homeless individuals, assist the homeless in obtaining social and maintenance services and income support services, and promote private sector and other assistance to the homeless. Hedges said the funds also will be used to provide follow-up and long-term services to assist homeless people in making the transition out of poverty.

Individual grants were awarded on the basis of poverty population in the individual grantees' jurisdiction. Programs will be funded through Sept. 30, 1988.

WHAT IS BLOOD PRESSURE?

Blood pressure is a measurement of the actual pressure the blood fluid is exerting on the walls of the vessels inside the body. Systolic Pressure refers to the pressure on the walls of the blood vessels when the heart is contracting. This is usually the higher of the two numbers you are accustomed to hearing about when talking about blood pressure.

Diastolic Pressure refers to the pressure on the walls of the blood vessels when the heart is relaxed. This is usually the lower of the two numbers you are accustomed to hearing about.

A LOOK OF RADIANT BEAUTY on your wedding day is easily achieved when you plan ahead and follow advice from the experts, says Glenn Roberts, creative beauty director for Elizabeth Arden.

Expert suggests 10 steps to perfect makeup for brides

Glenn Roberts, creative beauty director for Elizabeth Arden has traveled to all parts of the world giving makeup advice to thousands of women—including many brides-to-be.

He's learned firsthand what the problems are and has become something of an expert on bridal makeup. Here are some tips from Glenn on planning the perfect wedding makeup.

1. Don't wait until just before the wedding to experiment with makeup and hairstyles. Start far enough ahead so that you will be comfortable with both the look and the way to achieve it on the day of the wedding.

2. Try out hair and makeup with all the pieces of your wedding ensemble—veil or hat, dress, jewelry—and if possible do it in the actual light of the church or synagogue.

3. Since both dim church lighting and wearing all white tend to "wash out" the features, don't be afraid to wear plenty of color (lively pastels in light to medium shades) and apply it on all parts of the face equally, with no one feature dominating.

4. Have a professional facial a week before the wedding to deep clean skin and pores and give any possible eruptions a chance to heal.

5. If you wear glasses, be sure to choose eyeshadows bright enough to show through the lenses and maintain the balance of color on the rest of the face.

Also, softly line the eyes on both upper and lower lids with a pencil one shade deeper than the eyeshadow.

6. Treat yourself to a manicure and pedicure a day or two before the wedding so that hands that cut the cake look lovely and feet that stand throughout the reception feel smooth and comfortable.

7. To make lipstick last through the ceremony and beyond, apply Visible Difference Lip-Fix before applying lipstick. It will also prevent lipstick from "feathering"—bleeding out beyond the mouth.

Then line the lips neatly with a pencil and fill in with lip color using a brush.

8. On the day of the wedding allow two hours of quiet preparation before leaving for the ceremony.

Romance is here to stay, in bridal fashions and jewelry

Whether it's the oversized bow in her hair, the low cut back of her wedding dress, or the exquisite gold jewelry she chooses, every bride wants to look and feel her romantic best.

This season, there's a marked return to pretty looks that are traditionally feminine but possess dramatic flair.

What's hot are romantic ball gowns cinched at the waist and overflowing with tiers of ruffles. Storybook charm is also evident with girlish pouf sleeves and high necklines, all in lace.

Some bridalwear designers are showing the empire style, nipped under the bustline as seen in the 1960s and in recent couture collections.

To measure up to the importance of her wedding day look, today's bride opts for the warm beauty of real gold jewelry in sumptuous all-gold designs or accented with semi-precious elements.

Both precious and sentimental, "real" jewelry is especially right for her once-in-a-lifetime day. Popular choices include necklaces of 14k gold fleur de lis charms accented with seed pearls or a string of polished gold hearts.

Feminine earrings in swirl or floral patterns are the perfect accompaniment to the frilly pouf gowns of the season. As an extra plus, many earrings follow the line of the ear to create a dramatic effect.

Just right for the season's short sleeved dresses, a gold cuff that appears to be draped like fabric is a classic any woman will cherish for years to come.

To top it all, for the bride who wants to sparkle from head to toe, the right headpiece is very important. Floral and jeweled wreath versions are the perfect accents for more elaborate dresses. Simpler headpieces with detachable veils work best with formal gowns.

For every bride, the way she expresses her own femininity is sure to turn heads as she walks down the aisle. This season, the choice of clothes, accessories and jewelry—spanning from girlishly innocent to glamorous—guarantees that the final result will fall nothing short of beautiful.

Personal tastes influence style, size of contemporary nuptials

Over the years many things about weddings have changed, but one thing remains constant: The joy and excitement that two people feel on their wedding day.

This is probably the only thing typical about each and every wedding. No one wedding is alike, and certainly no one marriage is alike. This is probably the most important rule to remember when planning your wedding day and your life together!

Being as organized as possible, and being willing to compromise, are also invaluable rules to remember. With so many people, including your spouse-to-be, offering their opinion about what should be done on your wedding day, keeping a cool head and being open to different suggestions can really ease the tension that is bound to develop at this time.

Many couples feel that they are doing a balancing act between family and friends during the months that precede the wedding. To avoid feeling this way, do everything possible to organize your thoughts and prioritize the things that need to be done.

Making lists is a good way to begin. Even if you make dozens of lists and never look at them again, you are at least organizing thoughts in your own mind.

Share responsibilities

Delegate tasks to willing friends and family members. Don't be afraid to ask those closest to you to help with the writing of invitations, or the organization of the seating plan; these are time-consuming jobs, you need all the help you can get! Also, it's a nice way to get people who care about you involved with the wedding.

Set realistic deadlines. Having a game plan, complete with start and finish dates that are attainable, will help to get you on the right schedule.

Planning a wedding, however, is not just work and organization, it's fun, and you should try to enjoy at least some of the planning even if between frequent panic attacks.

It's the perfect opportunity to plan an event which reflects both your, and your spouse-to-be's, personal style. Being comfortable with the type of wedding ceremony, reception, style of dress and attendants that you choose is an important key to enjoying your day.

Traditional weddings are back, complete with formal sit-down dinners, wedding gowns with trains, tuxedos with tails, and 10-attendant wedding parties. However, small, intimate weddings are also on the rise.

Each particular style of wedding has its own appeal and charm, so that choosing the best one for you and your spouse-to-be depends entirely on personal tastes, finances and what makes you happiest.

If a small, private wedding is not your ideal, and the thought of a show-stopping extravaganza makes you break out in hives, why not consider a wedding held in any number of historical homes, large brownstones, lofts, updated warehouses or boats that are available for rent.

Many of these spaces are available only to people within traveling distance of a large metropolitan city but, more and more, historical homes, museums and art galleries everywhere are being made available to the public for parties, receptions and business events.

Investigate fees

A fee is usually charged but, in many cases, it may be less than what a commercial establishment might charge. The monies collected are generally put towards the general upkeep of the home or museum.

Many places supply a caterer, however you should be prepared to supply your own caterer if necessary.

Establishments that have never been open to the public should not be ruled out. Many such places have just never thought of the possibility of renting, yet might be perfectly willing to do so if approached.

The options available to couples today are varied. From different wedding ceremonies and receptions, to styles of living, division of household chores, child-rearing practices and career choices, today's young couples are making more decisions than ever before, about the directions their lives will take.

Helpful advice from an expert on how to plan a romantic honeymoon

Barbara Brass, the editor and publisher of Romantic Hideaways, a monthly letter reviewing those special, little advertised and hard-to-find vacation spots where newlyweds (or those who to feel that way!!), can enjoy the time together about which lovers fantasize, offers some tips for making that most special of trips...the honeymoon.

• Talk honestly with your partner about your dream of the "perfect honeymoon." Don't set yourself up for disappointment by assuming your partner's dream is the same as yours.

• This is supposed to be your time as a couple to relax and enjoy each other. Make sure the destination you choose is one that encourages privacy and provides all the services you expect.

• Allow yourself ample travel time. Don't rush from your guests to make a plane. Plan on spending the first night within easy travel distance of the site of the wedding. And, when there are travel delays—relax.

Shop talk with your spouse

85 percent of newlywed brides go outside the home, Blondie is as Dagwood to need an hour to the sofa and unwind. But according to Bride's Magazine, shop talk — job triumphs and concerns — is keeping in touch with your "other life."

News from your partner's hectic days can better prepare you to rate over setbacks, or offer advice your spouse asks, "Should I raise from Mr. Dithers?"

Much of our identity comes from work, and so much of our time is work, that it can't be an untopic," says Barbara Mackoff, author of Leaving the Office Behind. "Even if your job is routine," it's important for your partner something about your day."

Can you open the lines of communication without ruining a relaxation together? Bride's offers these

• Normalize your spouse with your work. Learn the language of his or her work, show interest in meeting associates and matching faces with names and titles. If your spouse's work place is inaccessible, read related books or newsletters, watch a relevant TV show or enroll in a course about the field, then discuss the subject together.

• Make a conscious transition between work and home. "Many people think all their happiness will disappear once they leave their suits," Dr. Mackoff warns. You have to consciously turn your jobs off — part of the commitment to marriage."

By establishing a routine time and place for shop talk, you avoid spending the whole evening talking about jobs. Don't discuss work just before sleep, but talk shop during dinner or while exercising.

"Conversation about the boss (isn't) an aphrodisiac. Leave time for more playful, sexier topics," Dr. Mackoff suggests.

• Share the big picture; spare the cumbersome details. Be kind to your listener. Condense your stories, keep your sense of humor, don't brag and limit your complaints.

If you find you become obsessed with the topic and can't drop it, a 10-minute limit will give each of you time to cover a few of the difficulties of the day, without draining your energy for the rest of the evening.

A 10-minute limit can also help reluctant spouses to air feelings that they might otherwise bury, by forcing them to explain the best and worst of their day.

On particularly gruesome days at work, a ban on shop talk might be the best approach. Days when work drives you berserk, or you don't want to dredge up the problems you left at 5:00 PM, you may yearn for time alone. Communicating this need is key.

But no matter what shop talk ritual you establish, and no matter how bad a day you've had, always be sure you let one another know with a hug or a kiss at the door how happy you are to see each other. It can help turn shop talk into sweet talk.

THE WEDDING EXPERIENCE in all its glory and romance has never been captured quite as well as in Martha Stewart's Weddings (Clarkson N. Potter). A foremost authority on entertaining with style, Stewart takes her readers to over 20 wedding celebrations from New York City to Texas. With entire chapters devoted to style, organization, ceremony, decoration, invitations, wedding dresses, bridal bouquets, music, menus, wedding cakes and recipes, Weddings is sure to become the '80s bible for bridal planning.

Sharing the first bathroom: Is the honeymoon over?

This year, an estimated 2.5 million couples will marry in the United States and, according to figures gathered by JCPenney, $222 million will be spent to outfit the bathrooms of these newlyweds. Why are bath items such a popular pre-wedding purchase?

Aside from the bedroom, the bath is perhaps the most intimate area in a couple's home. "And today, more often than not," says Cele Lalli, editor in chief of Modern Bride magazine, "bathroom space is a problem for newlyweds."

Consequently, bath accessories have become increasingly important as brides and grooms try to achieve both luxury and efficiency in a bathroom suited to both their styles.

In order to "come to a meeting of the minds in terms of decorating and accessorizing," she counsels the couple to go to the store together, walk through, touch and talk about the items.

Will a new husband feel comfortable in a floral bath? The salespeople are trained to help couples refine and coordinate their tastes.

For example, if his choice of towels rubs her the wrong way, Maggie Phillips, director of home fashion for JCPenney suggests: "The couple might look for terry cloth towels in complementary colors such as white and vanilla. Each could be trimmed with similar details—or only the bride's could be trimmed."

The different colors will make them easily identifiable and they will blend beautifully.

The experience of decorating and sharing a bath can provide a wonderful opportunity to work together, to accommodate each other, and to realize how well suited you are to each other.

In reaffirmation ceremony, happy couple "marries" again

Have you ever said to your husband or wife, "I love you so much I'd marry you all over again?" There's a way to make good on your promise: Have a reaffirmation ceremony.

Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward have had one. So have Mr. and Mrs. William Shatner. According to Barbara Tober, Editor-in-Chief of Bride's magazine, "Across the United States, the custom of reaffirming one's wedding vows is fast becoming popular for couples who are happily married and want to say so to each other and the world."

When, in particular, might a couple want to rededicate their commitment to each other? Some choose a significant anniversary—maybe the fifth or the 25th. Others mark a major event, such as the birth of a child or a child's marriage.

Still others are prompted to renew their vows after they've successfully weathered a period of marital stress and decided to stay together.

To plan a reaffirmation ceremony:

- First speak to your clergyman. He will help you work out your own service, complete with readings, music, even a processional. Another option is for you to arrange an interlude for the ceremony within an anniversary or other party you'll have.

- Decide what vows you'll recite. You could repeat your marriage vows, having the clergy insert something like "renewing their promise in the presence of God." Or you could write your vows yourselves.

For example, you might want to make pledges relating to patience, health, a sense of humor or ability to communicate.

- Plan a reception if you wish. It can be anything you want, from a dinner for just family to a large cocktail party. Carry out the theme by including some classic wedding touches such as champagne and a festive cake. Decorate the party area with photos from your wedding.

- Choose your outfits. As the "bride," you might bring your actual wedding dress out of storage for the event. Or you could shop for a new, more sophisticated look—perhaps a sleek sheath, smooth charmeuse or floaty chiffon in a "tea" or ballet length. Ask your local bridal salon to show you their selection.

The "groom" could wear either a tuxedo or a business suit, depending on how formal the party will be.

Send the invitations. If you'll have a formal celebration for more than 50 guests, it's a good idea to send printed invitations. The wording would be: The honor of your presence is requested at the reaffirmation of the wedding vows of Mr. and Mrs. ...etc.

If you and your spouse have children, by all means include them. Young children can act as flower carriers or ring bearers. Teens could usher, read a poem or scripture passage, or sing.

Congratulations to

Newlyweds will appreciate a gift of a microwave oven

The busy lifestyle of today's two-career couples means they often have limited time together. A practical solution is to give the wedding gift of extra time, a microwave oven.

The Tappan Appliance Company suggests the following features to look for when microwave oven gift-shopping:

- Under-cabinet mounting—A newlywed couple's first home often has a small kitchen. The under-cabinet installation feature conserves valuable countertop space.

- Temperature probe—This lets food cook until done without programming cooking times. The probe measures the internal temperature of food, then turns the oven off when it's done to perfection.

- Turntable—Rotates food inside the oven for even cooking. An on-off button operates the turntable without opening the oven door.

- Built-in browner—Adds a fresh-baked touch to microwaved foods. Some ovens, such as Tappan's new Micro-bake, achieve browning by alternately baking and microwaving foods.

- Programmable control center—Lets cooks program the oven for type and quantity of food, and then does the cooking automatically. A big help when preparing freezer-to-table convenience foods.

- Cookbook—Step-by-step instructions on food preparation and serving, illustrated with photos and drawings, will be appreciated by novice cooks. Many microwave oven manufacturers provide these with their products.

The first microwave oven was introduced by Tappan in 1955. Today, more than 60 percent of American homes are equipped with this time-saving appliance that offers cooking convenience.

With a wedding gift of a microwave oven, the newlywed couple will enjoy fast and easy meals for years to come.

Fashion trends for weddings

Bridal fashion may seem pretty much the same from year to year: "A white dress is a white dress." But if you look closely the changes become apparent, having to do not only with matters of sleeve length and neckline, but with formality versus informality.

The late '60s and early '70s, for example, were a time of extreme informality in wedding clothes — "homespun" and "peasant" looks were popular. By contrast, 1987, continuing a trend of the past few years, is pure elegance and formality.

The best-seller style in bridal gowns now is the ultra-romantic ballgown with its billowy skirt, narrow waist, puffed sleeves and flowing train. The ballgown came in a few seasons ago, picked up steam when Princess Diana wore it, and still shows every sign of remaining the look. All the major manufacturers make it, in fabrics ranging from pure satin to polytaffeta and polyorganza.

As popular as the ballgown is, however, it's not a bride's only choice. Unlike in past eras, a distinguishing feature of bridal fashion today is that there is no one fashion. Says Marianne Diorio, Fashion Editor of Bride's Magazine: "There's a real push toward individuality in bridals and there's a manufacturer to suit every woman's wedding style." In the same pages that show the ballgown, Bride's features a type of dress that's its opposite: A slim, dropped-waist style that Ms. Diorio calls the "Chariots of Fire" look. These dresses have little adornment (though some have touches of lace and beadwork), but depend on clean lines and good fabrics for their richness.

White rather than ivory is traditional for warm-weather weddings, but this year sees the preference for white go one step further. "There's a growing interest in all-white weddings," notes Ms. Diorio. This means that everyone, from the bridesmaids to the ushers to the groom, wears white. Bright flowers add color for a fresh, pretty look.

This season's bridesmaids who don't appear in white are most likely to wear peach or yellow tones. Last year's front-runners, lavender and dusty rose, are also still being chosen. A brand-new, unusual shade for bridesmaids: Navy blue, brightened with white and a gay touch like a pink ribbon.

The other women in the wedding — the mothers — are seeing their choice in dresses expand this season as never before. The key word for this category of fashion is "younger." "Today's mother is more active and in better physical shape than her predecessors," says Ms. Diorio. She's likely to wear a fashionable dressy dress rather than one that's stamped "mother of the bride."

Finally, what is the groom wearing? As with his bride, his outfit is a combination of tradition and individuality. The formal all-black or all-white tuxedo continues to be most men's first choice. It's become almost a uniform for formal weddings.

But the personal touch is showing up in accessories. One groom might wear an ash rose cummerbund and tie. Another might show some flair in his choice of boutonniere. Instead of the usual white carnation, he'll wear one of the flowers that appears in the bride's bouquet — anything from a rose to an alstroemeria lily.

Role of the professional bridal consultant

Most brides—sooner or later—realize the massive scope of the special day they are planning.

A return to the formal, elegant wedding, coupled with a lack of time for the working bride, makes the use of a wedding consultant or planner more a necessity than a luxury.

A professional bridal consultant can help the bride organize, plan and direct all or part of her wedding...and keep it within the budget.

The bride plans only one wedding, while the consultant can call on experience and a wide range of suppliers to help make the wedding just what the bride dreams about—without the nightmares that come with planning it by herself.

Once only in the realm of the rich and famous, consultants now work with all sizes of weddings, but always with the same goal. It is the consultant's job to organize, recommend and suggest to the bride the proper, most economical way to prepare for her biggest day.

For a free brochure on the role of the wedding consultant and the names of professionals near you, send a self-addressed, stamped legal-size envelope to the Association of Bridal Consultants, Dept. M, 200 Chestnutland Road, New Milford CT 06776-2521.

Influenced by nostalgia

The word for weddings today is "traditional," and anyone who attends a nuptial, 1980s style, can see why right away. The barefoot-in-the-park ceremonies of the 1960s and '70s have disappeared as completely as flower children and love beads.

Elegant clothes, age-old ritual and a spirit of nostalgia are the rule.

But does this swing-back mean that all innovation is out of style? Does the bride of today really have a wedding that is indistinguishable from the one her mother or grandmother had?

"You need to look more closely to see what's happened," says Barbara Tober, editor-in-chief of Bride's Magazine. "Today's weddings do seek out the best and most beautiful traditions of the past—in contrast to a few years ago when anything old was automatically suspect. But, at the same time, they're very, very modern in that they express new ideals."

Fewer "rules" of etiquette, plus a climate that favors personal expression, have led couples to add their own creative touch.

"But today's individuality is very different from the 'do your own thing' brand of the last decade," says Mrs. Tober. Couples don't throw out the whole ceremony and start from scratch; they just change or add little things. For example, they have their own special music played, personalize their vows, or pass out printed ceremony "programs."

Modern weddings also break with the past over the ideal of equality. Today's bride may be dressed in a demure, turn-of-the-century style, but that isn't where her head is. The working bride may have helped pay for that Victorian gown herself, and the ritual phrase of "love, honor and obey" has largely disappeared from the ceremony.

The "giving away," a part of some ceremonies in which the celebrant asks, "Who gives this woman in marriage?" has also changed with the times. Today, a couple might rewrite the question to read, "Who blesses this marriage?" with both the bride's and groom's parents answering "We do."

The same kind of thinking has likewise revised the idea of who pays for a wedding. Traditionally, the bride's parents shouldered the whole bill. "But, for the first time," says Mrs. Tober, "there's a definite trend toward the sharing of expenses by the groom's family."

This is partly economic—inflation for some families means everyone has to chip in for there to be a wedding at all.

But it's also a sign of the times. A bride's parents are no longer considered to be "marrying off" their daughter. Rather, the wedding is seen as a joining of two people and two families.

Finally, equality means a new role in the wedding for today's groom. In the past, a groom often felt like a spectator at his bride's "big day." Modern couples simply take for granted that it's his wedding too!

Grooms have new responsibilities: They help pick the wedding site, choose china patterns, address invitations and write thank-you notes. And they bask in a larger share of the limelight: Some men wear engagement rings, appear with the fiancées in newspaper announcements, and even have showers thrown in their honor.

Lake County features cross country ski routes: Samuels

When Mark Samuels started his first cross country skiing class at Lake Forest High School 10 years ago, he asked his students a simple question.

"I asked them if anyone had every been cross country skiing. I think one person raised his hand. Now when I ask that question, everybody has been cross country skiing," Samuels said.

Samuels brought his cross country ski message to Gurnee Sunday during the Gurnee Park Dist.'s annual cross country ski clinic. About 20 to 25 would be skiers participated in the course, which included both lecture and actual cross-country skiing at Viking Park.

Samuels explained that at Lake Forest, where he coaches wrestling and football, the cross country ski program is part of a non-traditional physical education curriculum. He said the growth in cross country skiing can be directly linked to the overall awareness of physical fitness.

The Gurnee area and surrounding towns are perfect for cross-country skiing, Samuels said. A beginner can learn, for example, simply by skiing down a neighborhood street, at a park or at most golf courses. This is compared to the more expensive sport of downhill skiing.

"They're two completely different sports. The greatest thing about cross country skiing is that in three hours you will be able to ski and enjoy yourself," Samuels said.

Cost for a "decent" cross country ski outfit generally is about $100 to $200. On the other hand, it can cost up to $1,000 to outfit a family of four by the time one figures in such costs as lift tickets.

Giving pointer

Cross country ski clinic instructor Mark Samuels gives pointers to skiers at Gurnee Park Dist. clinic. After lecture, participants had chance to use new skills at learn and ski at Viking Park.

Arrives for duty

Accepting accolades

Warren Twp. High School teacher Mike Galgan, left, accepts plaque from WTHS Athletic Dir. Mike Kunkle. Timmer Elmer Stone looks on. Galgan was recognized at the halftime of Warren's game against Mundelein. Galgan is retiring from Warren after more than 30 years as teacher, athletic director and coach. Galgan was honored by Warren teachers at dinner Wednesday.

NIPC projections bring mixed reactions

Estimations of Lake County census by the Northeast Illinois Plan Commission has brought mixed reactions from local officials.

All Warren Twp. communities were expected to grow by the year 2010, according to the report released by NIPC.

"It will all be predicated on the national economy," Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton said.

Gurnee's population, listed as 7,179 for the 1980 census, was projected as 18,775 for 2010. The village had a special census conducted last year.

"I think it is on the low side," Wadsworth Mayor Ed Tomkowiak said. Wadsworth was listed as 1,104 for 1980 and 1,824 for 2010. The village, like Gurnee, conducted a special census last year which showed a population of 1,475.

Park City Mayor Virginia Kennedy also said the projections for her city were low. In 1980, Park City had a population of 3,673 and is expected to be 6,427.

Third Lake Mayor Charlie Mann said her village was considering a special census.

Third Lake's population was expected to increase from 3,673 in 1980 to 6,427 in 2010.

Old Mill Creek is expected to see the largest percentage increase - from 84 in 1980 to 1,031 in 2010, more than a 1,000 percent increase.

Edgar announces grants for Lake County libraries

Secretary of State and State Librarian Jim Edgar announced that 16 libraries in Lake County will receive state public library per capita and equalization aid grants totalling $581,043.03 this year.

According to Edgar, 541 libraries statewide will receive more than $9 million in per capita grants from his office. In addition, $475,820 in equalization aid was awarded to 94 libraries throughout the state to assist libraries which are unable to meet minimum public library funding at the local community level.

"Per capita grants to libraries in Illinois have always been an important source of revenue and that importance has taken on even greater significance as outside funding sources become scarce," Edgar said. "These grants traditionally supplement the local public library budgets and allow libraries to expand their services and collections although this year more libraries will rely on these grants for basic library operations."

"As State Librarian, I am pleased that we have again increased the level of funding to help hundreds of local libraries continue providing basic services to millions of patrons in Illinois," continued Edgar.

Per capita grants, which supplement library budgets, are used for nearly any library function including increased hours of service, additional staff, library materials or equipment purchased.

According to state law, libraries must work to meet the Illinois Library Assn.'s public library standards and levy local taxes at a rate of at least 0.13 percent.

She was a member of Grace Lutheran Church of Kenosha, Wisconsin, and a member of DANK, also of Kenosha.

On January 8, 1928, she married Albert G. Sprenger in Seuzach, Switzerland and he preceded her in death on September 16, 1968.

Survivors include two sons, Otto H. (Mary Jane) Sprenger of Antioch, Illinois, and Albert, Jr. (Carla) Sprenger in Switzerland; one daughter, Hedwig Sprenger, also in Switzerland; two grandchildren, Kathleen M. (Robert) Johnson and Jerome Paul Carpenter; both of Kenosha, Wisconsin; two greatgrandchildren, Michelle Lynn Alrikas and Christine Marie Alrikas, both of Kenosha.

She was preceded in death by one infant daughter, Sylvia Ruth, and by three sisters, Klara, Anna and Martha.

Funeral services were held Friday, January 8, 1988 at the STRANG FUNERAL HOME, 1055 Main St., Antioch, Illinois, with the Rev. Charles Miller of St. Stephen Lutheran Church officiating. Interment was private at Millburn Cemetery, Millburn, Illinois, on Saturday, January 9, 1988. Friends desiring may make contributions to the Antioch Rescue Squad in her memory.

Investment choices

The consensus on investment advice is to base investments on a long-term strategy in line with basic financial goals. Experts suggest investing for total return the combination of dividend and interest income as well as growth.

Wrestling showdown

Northwest Suburban Conference wrestling fans wishing to see just who is the top dog in the league dual race should be at Round Lake Jan. 15 when the Panthers battle Johnsburg.

Both teams come into the dual meet off NWSC wins and have undefeated league records. Johnsburg defeated Grant 36-17 for the first time in its history last week while Round Lake crushed Marian Central 61-6. Round Lake is 4-0 in league meets while Johnsburg is also 4-0.

Round Lake coach Bob Curran is concerned that Johnsburg's first two wrestlers—Chris Setzler at 98 pounds and Sean Kengel might give the Skyhawks a 16-point advantage. Mike Lewis is 21-0 and ranked No. 1 in the state at 112 pounds.

"We hope we can get a big lead on them," Johnsburg coach Mike Roberts said.

"I expect for it to be a close match. The pins will tell the difference," Curran said.

Roberts said he is not that worried about a letdown after the win over the Bulldogs.

"I think we had a natural letdown at the Janesville Craig tournament," Roberts said.

In Round Lake's win over Marian, Rob Quane at 145, John Bannott at 155, Chris Rangel at 167, Jerry McCue at 185 and heavyweight Buddy Estes earned pins. Estes is now 19-2 on the year.

Mike Pratt at 98 pounds, Brian Raner at 119, and Jerry Chapman at 132, all won by decision.

In Johnsburg's win, Grant won in the middle weights but the Skyhawks won or tied the last three weight categories to secure the win.

After Bob Foster tied at 167, Paul Bjerning earned a pin at 186 over Tony VanSickle. At heavyweight, Eric Dember closed out the meet with a pin over Jim Andranaco.

"We've felt over the last four years we have been slowly chopping away. We lost by one last year," Roberts said of the historic win over Grant.

After battling Johnsburg, Round Lake travels to Jacobs to face Carmel and Jacobs in a double dual meet.

Cheerleaders to compete

Waukegan radio station WXLC, 102.3 FM, will be the host for the upcoming "Battle of the Cheerleaders" Jan. 18, 19 and 21 at Lakehurst Mall in Waukegan.

Ten high schools from throughout Lake County and Wisconsin will compete to determine the best all-around team. Warren is the defending champion.

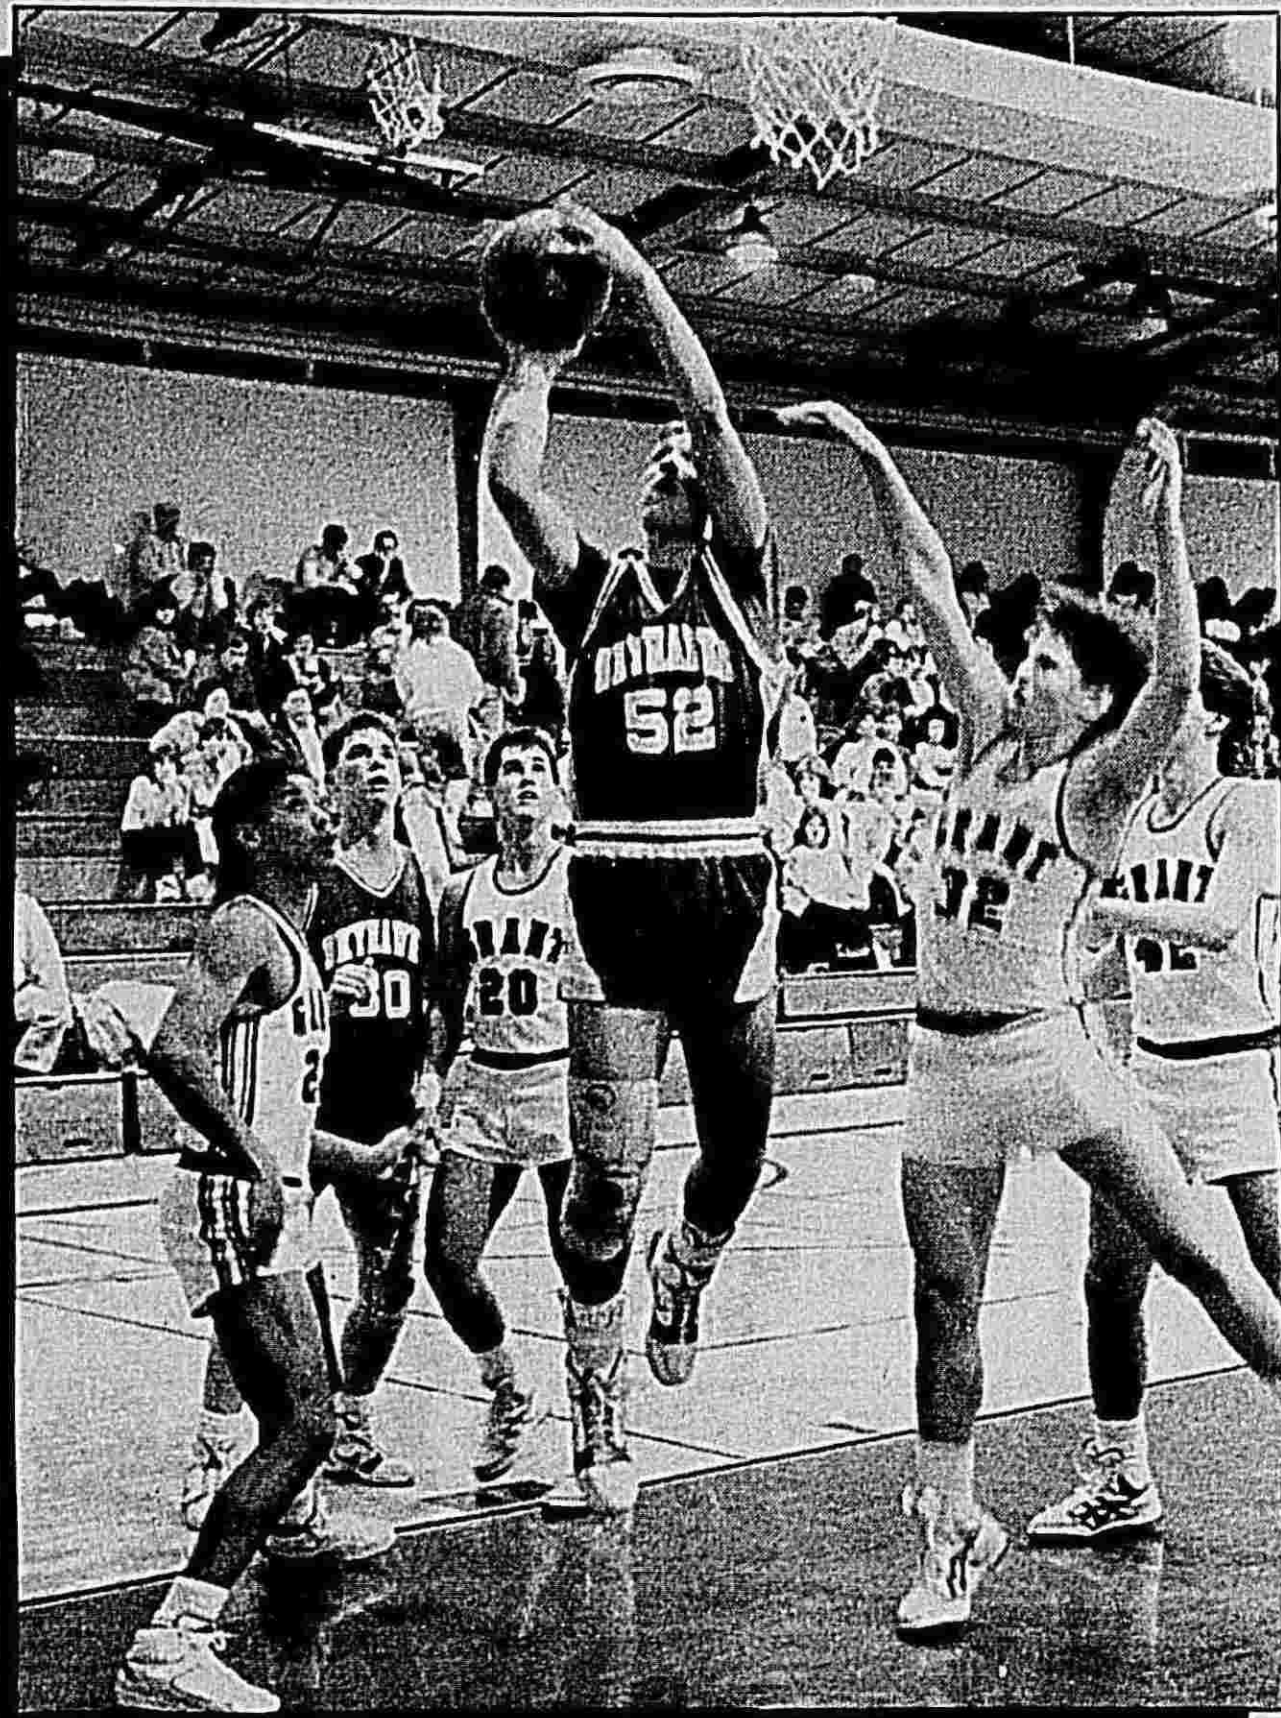

Teams will be judged by the Northwestern University cheerleading and pom-pom squad. Winning team will receive a 15-inch projection television and a school dance party with refreshments and the Max Headroom Video Van furnished by Chicagoland Coca-Cola bottlers. Party will be hosted by a WXLC disc jockey of the winning team's choice.

The radio station's Dave Labereque will broadcast live from Lakehurst Mall during each night of the competition. Second, third and fourth place teams will receive cash prizes furnished by the shopping center.

On the air

WXRS, AM 1220, will be broadcasting high school basketball games from Jan. 15 through sectional play in March.

Action begins on Jan. 15 with the Highland Park-Waukegan East contest. On Jan. 19, girls basketball will be featured with Libertyville at Zion-Benton.

Closing in on two more

Johnsburg's John Olson powers his way for two points against Grant. Trying for rebound position are: Grant's Kip Paul, Ken Rasbid and John Wilhelm. Johnsburg's Brandon Cajthaml looks on. Grant won Northwest Suburban Conference contest 65-51.

Mustangs hoping to keep NSC momentum going

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

Now if only the Mundelein Mustangs can duplicate at home what they did on the road.

That is the question facing the Mustangs after Mundelein knocked off Niles North and Warren in two North Suburban Conference away games last week. The Mustangs, though, must find a way to stop Lake Forest Jan. 15 at home. And that means stopping Rob Pelinka, a senior sharp shooter who scores in the 20-point range as often as the Cubs finish in the second division.

"Our objective is to play hard every game and improve. It was a big weekend for us. I'm really satisfied with the overall play of everyone," Mundelein coach Dennis Kessel said.

Mundelein now comes into the "Pack The Place" night against Lake Forest with an even NSC slate at 3-3 and a 6-7 overall record. Mundelein topped Niles North 59-51 and then spoiled first-place Warren's undefeated conference record and opener for its new gym with a 60-54 win Saturday in Gurnee.

A balanced scoring attack paved the way for both victories and Kessel is hoping for more of the same against the Scouts and then at Libertyville Jan. 16.

"J. T. (Mathwig) really has been consistent since the second half of the Antioch game. Without him we don't have an offense. Fuller (Jeff) and Ulrich (Tim) did a great job on the boards. We owned the boards," Kessel said.

Against the Vikings, Mathwig had 13, Doug Sundell 12, and Fuller and Ulrich both had 10 points.

Mathwig had 20 points and Sundell 15 against the Blue Devils.

While Mundelein celebrated, Warren's locker room was silent.

The Blue Devils had waited more than a year for the opening of the new gym, playing home games at the College of Lake County and playing all their first-round games away this year.

Warren, now 10-3 overall and 5-1 in the NSC, must bounce back quickly. The Blue Devils travel to Zion-Benton Jan. 15 and Lake Forest Jan. 16. If there is any consolation for Warren, Zion was upset in overtime a night earlier by North Chicago.

MHS plans to 'Pack The Place'

Mundelein Mustang basketball fans will not only have the chance to see one of the hottest teams in the North Suburban Conference Jan. 15, but will get a price break as well.

MHS Athletic Dir. John Graham announced that as part of the school's "Pack The Place" night, prices will be cut in half. Students will be charged 50 cents and adults $1.

Also, door prizes will be distributed. The sophomore game against Lake Forest begins at 6 p.m. with the varsity contest to follow at 7:30 p.m.

Panthers claim first in NWSC race

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

Like all successful basketball teams, the Round Lake Panthers did not reach the top of their class by underestimating the ability of opponents.

And coach Bob Ward's team, now securely in first place in the Northwest Suburban Conference, is not about to start.

"I'm not concerned about a letdown. We know Johnsburg is a darned good team," Ward said.

It was moments after a thrilling 55-54 win over Marengo Monday night when Ward spoke those cautious words. The Panthers, now 5-0 in the league, are at Johnsburg, losers of four straight games, Jan. 15.

The Round Lake-Marengo game had all the elements of a post-season thriller. Round Lake, playing before a packed house on a night when it did not need a 'Pack The Place' promotion, played with intensity from the opening tip-off. Offensively, the Panthers were paced by balanced scoring. Frank Russell, Timm Dunn and Brian Richardson all scored 12 points while Todd Collis had 11.

Round Lake dominated for three quarters, and led by as many as seven points with just two minutes left. But a furious Marengo rally fell just short. The contest was not decided until Marengo's Brian McCartney missed the second of two free throws with two seconds left and Round Lake's Jeff Shook garnered the defensive rebound.

"The kids played with a great deal of intensity from the opening. Marengo made two or three real good surges but we were able to hold them off," Ward said.

In the end, rebounding and clutch free-throw shooting made the difference. Round Lake outrebounded Marengo 36-25 with Tim Unroe leading the way with 11 boards.

"That was it right there," Ward said.

For Marengo coach Bill Barry, whose team is now 4-1 in the conference and must regroup to beat an improving 3-1 Grayslake team Jan. 15, the difference was the start.

"The kids played hard. We just got ourselves in too deep of a hole," Barry said.

The game was also a scout's delight. The Panthers kept scouts from Grayslake, Johnsburg and Grant writing busily from the start. Paced by Richardson and Russell and a three-point play by Dunn, Round Lake led 8-2 and 13-4 in the first quarter. The hosts led 16-8 after one.

Marengo made its first run at Round Lake in the second quarter. The Indians cut the gap to six on a Dan Wilke layup, but failed twice to trim the lead to four. Round Lake saw that opening and baskets by Unroe and Richardson in the final minute increased the lead to 29-29 at halftime.

Mike Williams kept the Indians in the game for the third quarter, scoring 10 points as Marengo halved the lead to five points entering the final quarter.

The fourth quarter started with a flurry of turnovers for both teams. Marengo cut the lead to three points twice.

But Round Lake's Collis stole the ball for a Marengo turnover and converted it to a 48-40 lead with 4:07 left. After a Marengo hoop, two more free throws by Dunn gave Round Lake a seemingly safe 49-42 cushion with 2:19 remaining.

Round Lake then committed the often fatal sin of fouling a team that is behind after a made basket.

Antioch, Zeman are planning Standings on 'packing' in NSC win

Antioch's boys basketball team is aiming for not only a successful 'Pack The Place' promotional night, but a key victory over an improving Fenton team Jan. 15.

"They seem to be a more solid team than they have in the past couple of years," Antioch coach Don Zeman said of the Bison.

Antioch comes into the 7:30 p.m. contest with an even 3-3 record in the North Suburban Conference. The 4-9 Sequoits split NSC games last week, beating Libertyville 57-50 but losing to North Chicago 63-60.

Following the game against Fenton, Antioch travels to Zion-Benton to take on the co-NSC leaders. The Sequoits will be hoping to duplicate what North Chicago did last week: upset Zion at its home court.

"I hope we can concentrate on Fenton and not worry about Zion until Saturday night," Zeman said.

Zeman and Co. will be looking for continued inside scoring from Paul Anderson, Matt Pelland and Greg Gunther, all of whom played important roles in the win over Libertyville.

Libertyville's Todd Adams scored 18 of his 23 points in the first half. Libertyville led 29-27 at halftime and Antioch trailed 42-39 against the winless Wildcats after three quarters and Libertyville was thinking it could notch an away upset. Think again, Wildcats.

Antioch ripped off 11 straight points to start the fourth quarter, turning the deficit to a 50-42 lead.

Greg Gunther, who finished with nine points, scored two field goals on tip-ins and two free throws during that key stretch. Antioch's defense picked Libertyville's pockets for four steals in six Libertyville possessions.

Scott Gooch led Antioch with 17 points and Anderson added 12.

The two teams were deadlocked at 33-all at halftime and Antioch led 35-33 with 5:30 left in the third quarter.

Corsairs seeking home victories

Carmel will have a chance to improve its .500 record in the East Suburban Catholic Conference and go over double digits in victories when the Corsairs host two games this weekend.

Carmel hosts ESCC foe St. Viator Jan. 15 and non-conference opponent Hersey in Mundelein. The Corsairs come into the games with a 3-3 ESCC record, 9-5 overall. Last week, Carmel bounced back from a 57-33 loss to league-leading St. Joseph with a 60-50 win over Notre Dame and a 68-58 non-league win over Chicago Weber.

"St. Viator is a very talented club. They throw a lot of full-court pressure at you," Carmel coach Scott Rosberg said.

St. Viator is also coming into the game with a 3-3 conference record, 8-5 overall.

Carmel used its defense to its best advantage in the two wins.

"Against Notre Dame, we put together two of our best quarters of the year. We came out in the second quarter and changed our defense and our pressure a little bit," Rosberg said.

The result was a 19-6 run in the second quarter which turned a one-point deficit into a 31-19 halftime advantage. Carmel then held on from there, as Notre Dame rallied after trailing by as many as 16 points in the second half.

Scott Stahoviak had 22 points and 11 rebounds to lead the Corsairs. Guard Kevin Talz contributed 13 points.

Stahoviak also turned in a yeoman's performance against Weber. This time, he had 20 points to go with his 11 rebounds.

Grant seeking momentum, Bears aim to break loss skid

Two teams at the opposite ends of the momentum scales will clash when Grant travels to Lake Zurich Jan. 15 for Northwest Suburban Conference basketball.

Grant is coming into a 7:30 p.m. game off a 1-1 win over Johnsburg which improved its league record to 3-1. Lake Zurich, meanwhile, dropped to 1-3 in the NWSC and 4-10 overall last week with a 61-53 loss to Marengo. The Bears are hoping to break a five-game losing streak in the home game.

"I think this game will be a good one for us going into that," Grant coach Tom Maple said. "The kids delivered what we coached tonight and if they see it happening successfully, I think we will be more willing to work harder for next week."

For Grant, the key will be stopping Lake Zurich's Troy Hines, a 6-5 center. Hines had 12 points in the loss to Marengo. Chad Cooper has emerged as a scorer from the guard spot, tallying 13 points to lead Lake Zurich's efforts against the Indians.

"Hines is getting better all the time," Maple said. "For Lake Zurich coach John Nesheim's team, the squad will be looking for a consistent offensive showing. They led Marengo 10-1 and 15-3 at the outset, but the Indians fought back from the deficit. By halftime, the visitors had gained a 26-24 advantage. Marengo increased its lead in the third quarter and then hit clutch fourth-quarter free throws to secure the win."

"Our defense has been pretty steady, not great, but it's been pretty good. I'm not worried about that. If we can put some points on the board, I think that's our key. We will play pretty good defense, game in and game out, but we have been stalling in several of our losses in the third and fourth quarter," Maple said.

Maple praised his team's second-half efforts against the Skyhawks. After a 33-33 halftime tie, the Bulldogs outscored Johnsburg 14-10 in the third quarter and held the visitors scoreless the last 2:30 of the game.

Johnsburg coach Jeff Lewiston, whose team's NWSC record was evened at 2-2, saw the second half as a case of a continuing problem.

"Our big problem was early in the third quarter. We came out flat again. That set the tone for the rest of the half. We just don't seem to be able to jump-start ourselves after the half. We did not contain Culotta. We knew we had to do it and we did not do a good job of it. Our inability to function offensively really hurt us. We just did not get into our offense. We had a lot of turnovers," Lewiston said.

Johnsburg was led by Chris Diedrich's 18 points and John Olson had 12. When the Skyhawks seemed to need them most, they could not off their vaunted three-point shots.

"We continue to play good in spurts and that is our story right now. We can be good in spurts and then we can be self-destructive. We have some young kids playing, but we also have three seniors starting. We have to get together," Lewiston said.

Johnsburg set the tempo early with a pressing defense, creating four Grant turnovers in the first quarter. The visitors, though, could only manage a 20-17 lead. Grant quickly turned the tables in the second quarter. Three straight field goals, two by Culotta, gave the hosts a three-point lead.

Taking high route

Lake Zurich's Troy Hines leaps over four Cary-Grove defenders en route to two more points. Lake Zurich hosts Grant in Northwest Suburban Conference play Jan. 15.
